Course Description

Introduces art beginners to roles that artists play in contemporary culture. Students will encounter critical readings and problem-solving: principles of form and theory and research applied to real-world situations frequently confronted by contemporary artists.

Course Learning Outcomes for ART 2

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

CLO 1: demonstrate skills in creative problem solving, brainstorming, and visual communication

CLO 2: deploy their skills in visual research and in applying theory to new situations

CLO 3: demonstrate familiarity with the language of visual critique

CLO 4: expand their skills in writing to include formats of written proposal, formal description and analysis, and critical blog

CLO 5: decipher the cultural roles played by various contemporary artists

Required Texts/Readings

Textbook

Required videos, podcasts and readings for the semester will be drawn from a variety of sources, including (but not limited to) textbook entries, art periodicals, artists' writings/interviews, and legitimate internet sources. These documents will be made available through Canvas, either as files for download or as web links, and will be presented at the beginning of each relevant unit.

Other technology requirements / equipment / material

Each student is required to procure a sketchbook (8" x 10", 9" x 12" or similar size but not smaller) as well as basic drawing tools such as pencils, pens, erasers, etc., to be used in and out of class. This sketchbook may also be used for other classes and work, however, may be required to be turned in to instructor for some assignments, so it is recommended that this be kept in mind regarding use for other work.

Each student is required to keep a folder of all class writing/journal entries/Frock Notes. Do not discard any assignments even after the instructor has graded them and returned them to you, as you may need to refer to this writings as the semester proceeds.

Students will be required to supply and procure their own studio materials to complete studio assignments, their particular needs will depend on how they approach the project(s).

Hazardous Materials (HAZMAT)

All studio classes that use any "hazardous materials" should include one graded assignment that helps students understand HAZMAT regulations and develop consistently safe practices—this might be as simple as a labeling assignment. Note that food containers cannot be used for chemical storage and that common household items (bleach, vinegar, etc.) are deemed hazardous materials and must be stored appropriately. The campus EHS (Environmental Health & Safety) office and the County will schedule inspections with increasing frequency; fines assessed by the County are now high enough to put us out of business, so this is a serious matter. The techs are NOT responsible for cleaning up facilities and classrooms and offices—this is your responsibility. If you need information or help, please let us know. Additional note: clutter is deemed a hazard, and we can be fined for clutter.

Shop Safety

Students who use the shop facilities will be required to pay a $20 fee to take the Shop Safety Test before they can use the facility. The fee must be paid prior to the student taking the Shop Safety Test. Students may pay at the Bursar's Office, located in the Student Services Center, directly into Fund 62089 with cash or check. The test and fee are required only once a calendar year, so if you took the test during the Spring 2016 semester, you will not be required to pay this fee again until Fall 2017. If you paid the fee in Spring 2016, you must pay the fee again for Spring 2017. The shop test is valid for one (1) calendar year.

In order to take the Shop Safety Test and use the School of Art & Design Shop Facilities, you must:

- Bring a receipt for the fee paid at the Bursar's Office into Fund 62089. The Bursar's Office accepts cash or check only.
- Be enrolled in at least one 3-unit Art or Design course during the spring 2016 semester.

Course Requirements and Assignments

SJSU classes are designed such that in order to be successful, it is expected that students will spend a minimum of forty-five hours for each unit of credit (normally three hours per unit per week), including preparing for class, participating in course activities, completing assignments, and so on. More details about student workload can be found at <http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S12-3.pdf>.

Final Examination or Evaluation

Our final examination will be the completion of our final critique on the Facing Your Fears Project. A rubric for this project will be posted on Canvas. Dates and times for this are listed in the Course Schedule. The schedule for final exams can also be found here: <http://info.sjsu.edu/web-dbgen/narr/static/catalog/final-exam-schedule-fall.html>

"There shall be an appropriate final examination or evaluation at the scheduled time in every course, unless specifically exempted by the college dean who has curricular responsibility for the course."

Grading Information

Determination of Grades

Students will respond to course readings and videos with short journal entries. The three primary projects will be "studio practice" projects informed by the readings. Rubrics for each project will be posted on Canvas.

30% Journal Entries:

Periodic short journal entries, responding to the course readings and videos, each journal entry will address a specific question or concept which will be assigned for each reading, and may additionally address how the reading will tie into the studio project that the class is currently working on. These entries may take the form of lists, collages, word-association exercises, and 500 word essays, depending on the assignment.

20% Project #1 – The Artist as Homesteader

Course Learning Outcomes

CLO1: Exposure to some history of artist homesteaders

CLO2: Practice resilience and learning to develop a new skill on your own

CLO3: Learn to interpret and be inspired by art and crafts practices outside of the traditional art canon

CLO3: Consider what it means to be an artist in society and what an artist offers to the greater culture. .

10% Class Participation:

Involvement in class discussions of the weekly readings, group discussions of projects in progress, participation in field trips, participation in project critiques.

NOTE that University policy F69-24, "Students should attend all meetings of their classes, not only because they are responsible for material discussed therein, but because active participation is frequently essential to insure maximum benefit for all members of the class. Attendance per se shall not be used as a criterion for grading."

Project Deadlines

Deadlines are listed in the Course Calendar. Any work not turned in on the date it is due is considered late. Ten percent will be deducted from the grade for every class period it is not turned in.

Special circumstances will be taken into consideration (e.g. Illness, court appearance, death of a relative.) The instructor reserves the right to alter assignments and change project due dates with sufficient notice to the students.

Students will respond to course readings and videos with short journal entries. The three primary projects will be "studio practice" projects informed by the readings.

Grades will be assigned according to University policy from A to F as outlined in the SJSU catalog. All work must be finished and turned in according to ascribed deadlines and instructions.

Your grade will be based on my assessment of your work, based on the criteria and rubric listed for each project. The three assignments are designed to test your ability to creatively apply the concepts from lectures and readings to specific problems. These skills will improve as you apply them to solving incrementally more difficult problems over your college career and beyond.

Rubrics will be posted to Canvas and can be reviewed at any time during the development of a project.

I will assign you a numerical grade for each of your reading response blogs and proposal projects in this class, as follows:

97-100 = A+ 93-96 =A 90-92 =A-

87-89 =B+ 83-86 =B 80-82 =B-

77-79 =C+ 73-76 =C 70-72 =C-

67-69 =D+ 63-66 =D 60-62 =D-

59 and below = F

A= Excellent work

B= Above average work C= Average work

D= Below average work F= Unsatisfactory work

“Passage of the Writing Skills Test (WST) or ENGL/LLD 100A with a C or better (C- not accepted), and completion of Core General Education are prerequisite to all SJSU Studies courses. Completion of, or co-registration in, 100W is strongly recommended. A minimum aggregate GPA of 2.0 in GE Areas R, S, & V shall be required of all students.”

Classroom Protocol

Lectures and slideshows will occur at the very beginning of class.

You are not permitted to use classtime to work on projects for other classes.

Students are required to present projects professional and on time. Participation in discussions and group critiques is also required. You will not pass this class if you never speak in class.

You are expected to attend all classes.

Online class expectations:

We will sometimes do some drawing exercises together during classtime. Please always have a sketchbook or notebook handy in which to work, as well as some sort of writing and/or drawing tool.

All projects and their rubrics will be listed on Canvas, and the Canvas interface will be used to turn projects in.

All classes will meet via Zoom during the regular class hours. Questions and comments may be entered anytime during the session in the “chat” box, as well as verbally so as to encourage dialogue.

Students are asked to remain on mute when another student or the instructor is speaking, but as this is a discussion-based class, please speak up and contribute your thoughts regularly.

The class will periodically break out into “Zoom breakout rooms” for smaller discussions between students.

It is optional to have video on. However, anyone with video on should be seated and properly dressed for classroom attendance. Also, as your instructor I want to respect your privacy, so I never require videos to be on for students (and am aware that not everyone has a webcam), but please also be aware that talking to a group of black screens gives your instructor anxiety.

Students are asked to arrive punctually for the Zoom classes. Late arrivals may have to wait a few minutes before entering the Zoom session, as late admission requires intermittently checking the “waiting room.”

Consent for Recording of Class and Public Sharing of Instructor Material

University Policy S12-7, <http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S12-7.pdf>, requires students to obtain instructor’s permission to record the course and the following items to be included in the syllabus:

- “Common courtesy and professional behavior dictate that you notify someone when you are recording him/her. You must obtain the instructor’s permission to make audio or video recordings in this class. Such permission allows the recordings to be used for your private, study purposes only. The recordings are the intellectual property of the instructor; you have not been given any rights to reproduce or distribute the material.”

In classes where active participation of students or guests may be on the recording, permission of those students or guests should be obtained as well: “Course material developed by the instructor is the intellectual property of the instructor and cannot be shared publicly without his/her approval. You may not publicly share or upload instructor generated material for this course such as exam questions, lecture notes, or homework solutions without instructor consent.”

HOW TO TAKE NOTES:

It is essential to take notes during class. Primarily, because you will get more out of class by taking notes because you will remember and retain more information. Secondly, taking notes trains you to observe and think more carefully about the information the instructor presents. Finally, the notes you take in class will be helpful language to refer to in your careers when you are responsible for writing artist statements, proposals, grant applications, etc.

- 1) Don't worry about taking “stupid” notes. There is no way to know what information will be significant to you later. A good guideline is if something perks your interest, make a note of it. You can figure out what it means or doesn't mean later.
- 2) The more you do it, the easier it becomes. Taking notes are essential in all art careers, and it is a good skill to have.
- 3) Actually write your notes by hand – refrain from typing them on tablets or computers. Besides being distracting to others, actually writing your notes will mean that you remember them more coherently – and this will lead you to more developed thoughts and reactions.
- 4) If you take them seriously, your notes will start to reveal to you what you are paying the most attention to, what you are most interested in, what you are the most intrigued by – they may even start to reveal something about yourself. Reading someone else's notes, or just sitting there during lectures, group discussions and critiques, is no substitute for applying your own perceptions and thoughts. You, as an active thinker, are an important part of your artistic development.

Notes on Plagiarism and Project Expectations

- 1) It is a violation of the Student Code of Conduct for a project to receive multiple grades. Therefore, if you turn in a project that has already received a grade in another class, you will fail the project and be reported to the Student Conduct and Ethical Development Office.
- 2) It is not permitted in my class to turn in any images or text found on the internet as part of your project. This includes Google images, even if you alter them. For my class, it is required that you do your own work. If you have questions regarding this, please speak to me.

University Policies

Per University Policy S16-9, university-wide policy information relevant to all courses, such as academic integrity, accommodations, etc. will be available on Office of Graduate and Undergraduate Programs' Syllabus Information web page at <http://www.sjsu.edu/gup/syllabusinfo/>”
