Course Description

Key ideas and debates pertaining to visual culture considered through interdisciplinary study of art and media as significant social forces.

Introduction to Visual Culture examines the visual culture that pervades everyday life in our increasingly complex image-saturated age. From painting to advertisements, from the Internet to posters, we come across visual culture in a variety of ways and forms. This course will take up key ideas and debates pertaining to visual culture through an interdisciplinary study that critically considers art and media as significant social forces. The course will discuss the role visual culture plays in contemporary life and will provide methods with which to read images, understand cultural context, and assess changes in spectatorship and distribution that have ensued due to new forms of image production and dissemination.

Course Format

Technology Intensive, Synchronous and Asynchronous

Due to Covid 19 restrictions, this course will be taught with a combination of Synchronous and Asynchronous on-line options. You will need access to the internet, the ability to upload and download files, and the ability to participate in video-conferencing. In the first week, we will work through a series of exercises to make sure you have the resources you need. Laptops and other equipment may be checked out for use with the course For more information see SJSU IT Work Anywhere and Student Computing Services .

Use of Zoom Conference Software

(From the SJSU Online Instruction Syllabus Guidance F 2020)

Recording Zoom Classes This course or portions of this course (i.e., lectures, discussions, student presentations) will be recorded for instructional or educational purposes. The recordings will only be shared with students enrolled in the class through Canvas. The recordings will be deleted at the end of the semester. If, however, you would prefer to remain anonymous during these recordings, then please speak with the instructor about possible accommodations (e.g., temporarily turning off identifying information from the Zoom session, including student name and picture, prior to recording). Students are not allowed to record without instructor permission. Students are prohibited from recording class activities (including class lectures, office hours, advising sessions, etc.), distributing class recordings, or posting class recordings. Materials created by the instructor for the course (syllabi, lectures and lecture notes, presentations, etc.) are copyrighted by the instructor. This university policy (S12-7) is in place to protect the privacy of students in the course, as well as to maintain academic integrity through reducing the instances of cheating. Students who record, distribute, or post these materials will be referred to the Student Conduct and Ethical Development office. Unauthorized recording may violate university and state law. It is the responsibility of students that require special accommodations or assistive technology due to a disability to notify the instructor.

Students are encouraged to turn on their cameras during the Zoom session, but not required. Students may also opt to identify themselves as Anonymous + *last five numbers of the SID. Use of the SID allows the instructor to credit any participation or quiz points.

Course Goals

After taking this course students will gain a critical understanding of how visual culture informs everyday life and experience. Readings, lectures and discussions will introduce theoretical and historical approaches to the study of visual culture while examining key issues in the study of media, art history, and culture at large. Students will learn techniques for analyzing images and objects encountered in art and culture. C1 Arts courses will enable students to recognize aesthetic qualities and processes that characterize works of the human intellect and imagination, and respond to these works of art in writing and discussion.
