

WRITING TUTOR

Available for all Lurie College Students!

Available Mo&We 3-6 PM
in the SAC room (SH 446)
by appointment

Please contact
Masako Kamoto
mkamoto.cali@gmail.com

FEEL FREE TO COME AT ANY POINT DURING THE WRITING PROCESS!

Contact me directly for possible online sessions
outside regular hours

WRITING TUTOR

WHAT TO EXPECT

I don't bite!

I'm a student, just like you! Please don't be nervous about reserving a session. Feel free to come in at any point during the writing process! Whether you're struggling to come up with ideas or you're fine-tuning your sentences, I'd be happy to work with you!

Sessions are about 30 minutes per person

The purpose of these sessions is for me to help you learn to identify and fix the patterns of errors in your writing; it is not for me to proofread the entire paper. As such, please keep in mind that we will likely not be able to read through the entire piece. It is recommended that you come in for multiple sessions so we can work through the writing process together. If you come the day before your paper is due, there may not be much I can do to help!

Come prepared

Please come with a hard copy of the paper you wish to workshop, and (if possible) a prompt sheet with the guidelines for the paper. This will help me identify what expectations your paper needs to meet.

How to reserve a session

Please contact me at mkamoto.cali@gmail.com, preferably at least a day in advance. If you cannot come see me during my regular hours, you may also contact me for the possibility of scheduling an online session through Google Docs.

ABOUT ME

Masako Kamoto

I hail from Japan, and I am now entering my sixth year in the States after completing my Bachelor's in English. This is my first semester as a graduate student; I am enrolled in the MA in TESOL program. My current career goal is to return to Japan to teach at an international school. My hobbies include sketching, dancing, and karaoke-ing for six hours straight. See you soon!