Course Description

“Literature for Global Understanding,” which carries 3 units, is an upper-division course designed, adopted, implemented, and administered by the Department of English and Comparative Literature at San Jose State University in accordance with the University’s General Education Program Guidelines (effective Fall 2005) to fulfill SJSU Studies (formerly Advanced General Education) requirements in Area V, “Culture, Civilization, and Global Understanding.”

Students are reminded that “Courses to meet Areas R, S, and V of SJSU Studies must be taken from three different departments, or distinct academic units.”

Prerequisites: WST, Core GE, Upper Division Standing, completion of (or co-registration in) 100W.

Amount of writing required: 5000+ words (research paper + two essays)

“Literature for Global Understanding” focuses on the study of literature as a form of human expression in different cultures or regions of the world, and how that literary expression has developed in historical, geographical, cultural, political, international, and global contexts. In general, this course will concentrate on a particular region of the world where a body of literature and the cultures expressed by this literature can be studied coherently. The basic principle in the design of this course is the promotion of global understanding among students in relation to how other literary traditions have developed distinctive features and identities, and how a knowledge and appreciation of other cultural traditions should have an important place in American culture and society.

Four variations of the course are offered in rotation from semester to semester:

English 123A: Literature for Global Understanding—Americas

English 123B: Literature for Global Understanding—Africa

English 123C: Literature for Global Understanding—Oceania

English 123D: Literature for Global Understanding—Asia

As one of these variations, English 123C examines the literary production and cultural heritage of the region known as Oceania, which consists of the major Pacific Island groups of Polynesia, Melanesia, and Micronesia; Australia and New Zealand (and if appropriate Indonesia and the Philippines as well as other entities of the region) are also included for examination due to historical, cultural, socio-economic, and geo-political reasons and contexts. Topics and issues exemplified by the oral and written literatures of the region include: anthropology, mythology, ecology, and diversity; migration, navigation, exploration, and tourism; conquest, settlement, colonialism, decolonization, modernity, and globalization; warfare, genocide, racism, ethnic relations, language, class, gender, religion, cultural hybridity, modernity, environmentalism, human rights, and indigenous movements will be exemplified in the writings of significant writers selected from Oceania. Knowledge of French, Spanish, Portuguese, Dutch, or any indigenous language will be most welcome.

Students will be required to play an active role in this course by means of presentations, debates, discussions, and research. Quizzes and participation in-class activities will be part of your course grade.

Course Goals and Student Learning Objectives

SJSU Studies / Advanced GE—Area V Student Learning Objectives (SLOs)

SLO 1: Students shall be able to compare systematically the ideas, values, images, cultural artifacts, economic structures, technological developments, or attitudes of people from more than one culture outside the U.S.

This objective will be met by means of close analysis of the texts throughout the semester; student success in achieving this objective will be assessed by means of appropriate questions in the final exam.

SLO 2: Students shall be able to identify the historical context of ideas and cultural traditions outside the U.S. and how they have influenced American culture.

This objective will be met by means of lectures, presentations, discussions, and other class interactions throughout the semester; student success in achieving this objective will be assessed by means of appropriate writing assignments.

SLO 3: Students shall be able to explain how a culture outside the U.S. has changed in response to internal and external pressures.

This objective will be met by means of in-depth study of the texts and their contexts as students conduct library research beyond the lectures and other in-class activities. Student success in achieving this objective will be assessed by means of a research paper.

Course Goals

Consistent with the goals of courses approved for Advanced GE in Area V, “English 123A: Literature for Global Understanding” focuses on the literary expressions of the Americas in order to (1) help students appreciate literature as a form of human expression and understand how that expression has developed over time in different cultures; and (2) increase students’ understanding of how other cultural traditions have influenced American culture and society, and how cultures in general both develop distinctive features and interact with other cultures.

Students are expected to:

- (1) Gain a knowledge and understanding of the Americas through the literatures and artistic texts produced by its various cultures and peoples;
- (2) Learn to contextualize the knowledge and understanding of the Americas in terms of its interrelationships and interactions with global processes, mechanisms, and forces beyond the Americas;
- (3) Acquire, through individual as well as collaborative efforts, skills of reading, explicating, discussing, analyzing, interpreting, debating, and writing about texts pertaining to literatures and the other arts produced by cultures and peoples of Africa;
- (4) Learn to develop, as a habit of mind, a keen interest in the global processes, mechanisms, and forces that have come to shape the affairs in the Americas and in the world;

(5) Acquire and maintain a personal tolerance and/or appreciation of the different perspectives and values offered in the literatures and artistic texts produced by cultures and peoples of the Americas;

(6) Develop a sense of commitment to the well-being of the world by sharing cultural tolerance and appreciation with one's own immediate community.

STUDENT LEARNING TO BE ACCOMPLISHED:

With reference to the artistic texts and literatures of the Americas included in this course, students will examine and understand how cultures and peoples of this region interact and interrelate to the rest of the world as a result of the global processes, mechanisms, and forces at work.

The specific learning objectives for students are:

(1) Exposure to a diverse and representative variety of significant texts of literature and, where appropriate, the other arts, that support an understanding of the Americas;

(2) Familiarity with significant writers, key texts and materials in the Americas;

(3) Examination of the above materials in both local and global contexts, especially with regard to larger processes, mechanisms, and forces that come into play in shaping the Americas and / or the world;

(4) Firm grasp of key issues affecting the Americas in the local and global contexts described above;

(5) Development and mastery of reading, analytical, critical, research, and writing skills suited to the study of the course materials;

(6) Demonstrated articulation of the understanding and mastery of the materials as well as the issues, in verbal discussions, oral presentations, writing and or appropriate formats.

Student Learning Goals of the Dept. of English & Comparative Literature

This course also helps students in the major to achieve the Student Learning Goals set forth by the Department of English and Comparative Literature in so far as they are required to develop and demonstrate the ability to:

1. read closely in a variety of forms, styles, structures, and modes, and articulate the value of close reading in the study of literature, creative writing, and/or rhetoric;
2. show familiarity with major literary works, genres, periods, and critical approaches to British, American and World Literature;

3. write clearly, effectively, and creatively, and adjust writing style appropriately to the content, the context, and the nature of the subject;
4. develop and carry out research projects, and locate, evaluate, organize, and incorporate information effectively;
5. articulate the relations among culture, history, and texts.

 Students are advised to take note of the following policy statement mandated by the Department of English with regard to grading (effective May 17, 1994):

“The Department of English reaffirms its commitment to the differential grading scale as defined in the official SJSU Catalog ("The Grading System"). Grades issued must represent a full range of student performance:

A=Excellent;

B=Above Average;

C=Average;

F=Failure.

Courses graded according to the A, B, C, No Credit system shall follow the same pattern, except that NC, for No Credit, shall replace D or F. In A, B, C, No Credit courses NC shall also substitute for W (for Withdrawal) because neither NC nor W affects students' grade point averages. This statement shall be included in all Department of English syllabi or greensheets."

In addition, in English Department courses, "instructors will comment on and grade the quality of student writing as well as the quality of ideas being conveyed. All student writing should be distinguished by correct grammar and punctuation, appropriate diction and syntax, and well-organized paragraphs."

Departmental Policy on Grading Written Assignments

"In English Department Courses, instructors will comment on and grade the quality of student writing as well as the quality of ideas being conveyed. All student writing should be distinguished by correct grammar and punctuation, appropriate diction and syntax, and well-organized paragraphs. Grades issued will represent a full range of student performance and will adhere to the following SJSU academic standards of assessment:

The "A" essay will be well organized and well developed, demonstrating a clear understanding and fulfillment of the assignment. It will show the student's ability to use language effectively and construct sentences distinguished by syntactic complexity and variety. Such essays will be essentially free of grammatical, mechanical, and usage errors.

The "B" essay will demonstrate competence in the same categories as the "A" essay. The chief difference is that the "B" essay will show some slight weaknesses in one of those categories. It may slight one of the assigned tasks, show less facility of expression, or contain some minor grammatical, mechanical, or usage flaws.

The "C" essay will complete all tasks set by the assignment, but show weakness in fundamentals (usually development), with barely enough specific information to illustrate the experience or support generalizations. The sentence construction may be less mature, and the use of language less effective and correct than the "B" essay.

The "D" essay will neglect one of the assigned tasks and be noticeably superficial in its treatment of the assignment—that is, too simplistic or short. The essay may reveal some problems in development, with insufficient specific information to illustrate the experience or support generalizations. It will contain grammatical, mechanical, and usage errors that render some sentences incomprehensible.

The "F" essay will demonstrate a striking underdevelopment of ideas and insufficient or unfocused organization. It will contain serious grammatical, mechanical, and usage errors that render some sentences incomprehensible.

Class Policy on Late Assignments and Incompletes

1. Assignments shall be turned in when due. Penalty applies to late take-home assignments at the rate of –10%/day overdue of the actual grade earned; maximum penalty up to 100% deduction of grade earned for the work assigned. There will be no make-up for in-class assignments and quizzes. Exams must be taken at the times and dates scheduled, unless an alternative arrangement is granted by the professor.
2. Essay assignments and research papers must be printed to receive credit.
3. Incomplete course work will result in actual grade earned based on points accumulated; an "I" course grade will not be given without signing a contract with the instructor at least two weeks prior to the last instruction day.

Class Policy on Record Keeping

Keep a record of all assignments you have completed. In particular, save backup copies of your essays/papers. For future portfolio purposes, students—ESPECIALLY MAJORS in English & Comparative Literature--are advised to preserve essays/papers graded and returned to them until graduation.
