Course Description

English 112B is an upper division English literature course designed to introduce adult readers to young adult literature, a genre most commonly written for adolescents between the ages of 13-19. Keep in mind that although the main characters of our novels are children/adolescents, the authors of these books still structure their works with complex literary devices and themes found in adult literature. Young adult literature has been erroneously classified as simple-minded, didactic, and inferior to writing for adults. Traditionally, literature has served not only to entertain but as a conduit for social commentary. This is no different with the genre of YA literature, although some tend to regard this type of writing as “unimportant” because they mistakenly think it exists solely to entertain. Social issues such as death, religion, politics, race, ethnicity, social class, and sexuality are just a few of the common themes this genre of literature tackles. People who disregard YA literature as “inconsequential” fail to recognize the profoundly important role this genre plays in offering commentary on the norms and social mores for adolescents. It might be helpful to keep in mind that Nicole St. John refers to teenagers as “inexperienced adults,” who can find in literature a safe haven to accrue much worldly experience. In this course, we will examine YA literature in the same manner in which we examine adult literature: we will expand our abilities to think critically, trace relevant themes, and offer analytical assessment of the novels.

Class sessions will involve some lecture, but will primarily be interactive with discussion, in-class writing, Book Talks, and other presentations. You may find it particularly helpful, especially if you are taking the course to fulfill the requirement for middle and/or high school teaching, to have a 3 Ring Binder, in which you can assemble resources, handouts and materials related to YA literature. This course, though, is not a methodology course, and I have attempted to tailor assignments with options to address the different majors represented in the class. An overall goal is to become immersed in the vast selection of YA literature, the more reading you can do and share with your classmates, the richer your experience will be.

Course Learning Outcomes

STUDENT LEARNING GOALS & OBJECTIVES: DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH & COMPARATIVE LITERATURE

I. Students will demonstrate the ability to

- 1) read closely in a variety of forms, styles, structures, and modes, and articulate the value of close reading in the study of literature, creative writing, or rhetoric.
- 2) show familiarity with major literary works, genres, periods, and critical approaches to British, American, and World Literature.
- 3) write clearly, effectively, and creatively, and adjust writing style appropriately to the content, the context, and nature of the subject.
- 4) develop and carry out research projects, and locate, evaluate, organize, and incorporate information effectively.
- 5) articulate the relations among culture, history, and texts.

The specific ways these CLOs are assessed in ENGL 112B are through

1. the Literary Analysis paper requirement that requires students to demonstrate their ability to read closely in a variety of forms, styles, structures, and modes, and articulate the value of close reading in the study of literature, creative writing, or rhetoric (CLO 1); and write clearly, effectively, and creatively, and adjust writing style appropriately to the content, the context, and nature of the subject (CLO 3). Student grades from the Literary Analysis paper will be used for assessment of CLOs 1 and 3.

2. the Book Talk project demonstrates students' abilities to read closely in a variety of forms, styles, structures, and modes, and articulate the value of close reading in the study of literature, creative writing, or rhetoric (CLO 1).
3. The Unit of Study or Annotated Bibliography assignment requires students to develop and carry out research projects, and to locate, evaluate, organize, and incorporate information effectively (CLO 4). For those who are prep for teaching English majors, the Unit of Study will also involve knowledge of major literary works and address CLO 2.
4. The Book to Film paper demonstrates CLOs 1, 3 and 5.

Required Texts/Readings

Textbook

Adolescents in the Search for Meaning: Tapping the Powerful Resource of Story by Mary Warner, ISBN 978-0-8018-5430-7, available in the SJSU bookstore or through amazon.com or Scarecrow Press: www.scarecrowpress.com; handouts from Literature for Today's Young Adults and my own creations available at http://www.sjsu.edu/faculty/mary.warner/English112B_Handouts.html

Note You will be able to see all the readings from Literature for Today's Young Adults, Adolescents in the Search for Meaning: Tapping the Powerful Resource of Story, and my own creations displayed in class. You may want to have a hard copy for further reference, and if you do, you can print these from this link: http://www.sjsu.edu/faculty/mary.warner/English112B_Handouts.html

Other Readings

After the First Death by Robert Cormier

Speak by Laurie Halse Anderson

We Were Here by Matt de la Peña

Witness by Karen Hesse

The Prisoner of Azkaban by J. K. Rowling (You may also choose to write about one of the other novels—Goblet of Fire, The Order of the Phoenix, The Half-Blood Prince or The Deathly Hallows, but as a class we'll do The Prisoner of Azkaban)

Whale Talk by Chris Crutcher

Course Requirements and Assignments

“Success in this course is based on the expectation that students will spend, for each unit of credit, a minimum of 45 hours over the length of the course (normally 3 hours per unit per week with 1 of the hours used for lecture) for instruction or preparation/studying or course related activities including but not limited to internships, labs, clinical practica. Other course structures will have equivalent workload expectations as described in the syllabus.” More details about student workload can be found in at <http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S12-3.pdf>.

Because this is a 4-unit course, students can expect to spend a minimum of twelve hours per week preparing for and attending classes and completing course assignments. This course will have integrated into the syllabus the following 1-unit enhancement:

- Increased course content and/or collateral readings
- Book to Film paper/project
- Field Experience
- Creative Projects/Publication
- Blog submission to the YA Wednesdays: www.yawednesday.com

I evaluate and assess all of the requirements listed above according to the grading policy listed below. A more detailed description of the 1-unit enhancement is attached to this syllabus.

 IF you are able to bring a laptop to class, this will facilitate the SSW writing and access to on-line handouts

1. Thorough and conscientious reading of the text/text materials, all assigned novels, and a novel for Book Talks, as well as readings for your unit of study or annotated bibliography project.
2. A 3-5 page- literary analysis paper for one of the required novels; this paper earns 10% of your course grade. The following are the Due Dates for the paper. Anyone doing a Book Talk presentation the same week as one of these assigned papers is eligible for a week’s extension. (CLOs 1 &3)
3. A Rubric for evaluating the literary analysis papers is available at http://www.sjsu.edu/faculty/mary.warner/English112B_Handouts.html

a. Paper on After the First Death	Sept. 17 or 24
b. Paper on Speak	Oct. 1 or 8
c. Paper on We Were Here	Oct. 15 or 22
d. Paper on Prisoner of Azkaban	Nov. 5 or Nov. 12
e. Paper on Whale Talk	Nov. 19 or Nov. 26

4. A Book to Film paper: You will select a book (it could be the same as the selection for your Book Talk if a film version is available) from a list of Book to Film options; read the novel and view the film version; then write a 3-5 page-paper analyzing the film version’s presentation regarding consistency with the novel. To allow for a model of the analysis, this paper will not be due until after Sept. 24 but needs to be submitted prior to Nov. 12. This paper earns 15% of your course grade. (CLOs 1, 3, & 5)

5. For the book, Witness, there will be in-class writing responses on October 15. The writing for Witness will comprise 10% of your grade and is essentially the midterm for the course. (CLO 3)

6. In each class session we will do 20 minutes of “Sustained Silent Writing”—your writing in these SSW times might provide the basis for one of your papers, response to ideas raised during class discussion or response to the book talks presented, or response to literature we've read. It will also be a log of the work you do each week for the 4th credit enhancement of the course. Please keep a folder with the writing from each of the SSW times and plan to submit it for review every third week. This writing is part of the participation grade as well as the requirement for upper level literature courses of 5000 words of writing. The writing is done in-class only. This SSW requirement is 15% of your course grade.

7. Book Talk/Blog Presentation: You will read a novel selected from a list provided by Professor Warner—everyone in the class will read a different novel, giving us an introduction to about 30 books; you will need to submit your choice to me via email before Sept. 9 so I can make sure there are no duplicate selections. Beginning September 17, we will have 5 Book Talks at most class meetings until everyone in the class has presented. There will be a sign-up for the presentation dates during the Sept. 10 class session. Book Talk presentations will include

- a. 7-8-minute oral presentation
- b. A hard copy of your Book Talk which includes
 - 3 key quotes from the book and an explanation of their significance;
 - the author's web site & 2 points of interest about the author;
 - literary response and/or teaching tips/resources for the book – for which category of books detailed in Professor Warner's Adolescents in the Search for Meaning: Tapping the Powerful Resource of Story might be this book be appropriate?
 - We'll be doing the format in a Blog that can be posted on Professor Warner's web page: <http://www.sjsu.edu/faculty/mary.warner/>
 - Rationale for why others should read this novel (in a sense, you're a salesperson for the book)
 - Analysis of the text complexity: qualitative and quantitative

The Book Talk component – because it has oral and written components earns 20% of your course grade, 10% for the oral and 10% for the written (CLO 1)

8. Unit of Study (for those who are English Preparation for Teaching/Multiple Subject majors) & accompanying Field Experience paper or Critical Annotated Bibliography for English literature or creative writing majors. The Annotated Bibliography can focus on a genre or issues/topics in YA lit. Since this project incorporates field experience, additional readings and research that are part of the 4th credit enhancement, a more detailed description of the project will be provided on a separate handout.

You will present your Unit of Study or Annotated Bibliography during the Nov. 26 and Dec. 3 class sessions—include an outline of the presentation for your peers IF you don't submit an electronic copy that can be posted on Dr. Warner's web site

The Unit of Study or Annotated Bibliography project earns 25% of your course grade (CLO 4)

9. Final Exam and in class activities earn 5% of the course grade; The Final Exam will be a comprehensive essay/short answer exam covering all readings, presentations, lectures, etc. It will be open-notes, open book, open notebook and is meant to be an integrative response to the work of the semester.

Grading Policy

Grades: The above requirements equal 100%; I assign numerical values to each assignment according to the following range

A: 91-99 B: 82-90 C: 73-81 D: 64-72 F: 63 and below

The Department of English reaffirms its commitment to the differential grading scale as defined in the SJSU Catalog (Grades-Letter Grading). Grades issued must represent a full range of student performance: A+/A/A- = excellent; B+/B/B- = above average; C+/C/C- = average; D+/D/D- = below average; F=failure. Within any of the letter grade ranges (e.g. B+/B/B-), the assignment of a “+” or a “-” grade will reflect stronger (+) or weaker (-) completion of the goals of the assignment. Your best efforts are expected and appreciated, but effort alone may not assure the highest grade if the writing or presentation does not meet the criteria for the assignment.

Classroom Protocol

Attendance/Participation: According to University policy F69-24, “Students should attend all meetings of their classes, not only because they are responsible for material discussed therein, but because active participation is frequently essential to insure maximum benefit for all members of the class.” When a class meets only once a week, we cover an incredible amount of material, which simply can’t be made up. Come on time and stay for the full class session. I also believe in student-directed learning that suggests you want to be present at every class to get all you can from the course. Any absence will affect your overall grade in the course since writing activities, discussion, and other participative activities cannot be made up.

 Out of consideration for your classmates and so you can give your undivided attention to class activities, no cell phones, iPhones, texting etc. are allowed; if you are using an e-reader, these should be used only for reading materials for class.

 I do NOT accept late papers. IF for some reason you need an exception, you must contact me IN ADVANCE of the due date, but the paper may still be accessed as late and the grade lowered.

I do not check email on Sundays; please don’t look for a response if you send an email those days.

University Policies: Per University Policy S16-9, university-wide policy information relevant to all courses, such as academic integrity, accommodations, etc. is available on the Office of Graduate and Undergraduate Programs’ Syllabus Information web page at <http://www.sjsu.edu/gup/syllabusinfo/>
