"Life is sufficient unto life if it is lived and felt directly and deeply enough, and I would warn that we must beware of those who seek, in words no matter how urgent or crisis-charged, to interpose an alien or dubious curtain of reality between our eyes and the crying claims of a world which it is our lot to see only too poignantly and too briefly." — Richard Wright in a 1944 letter to the artist Antonio Frasconi

Course Description
This course is a creative writing workshop course in nonfiction. In this class, you will learn how to build nonfiction articles and stories from initial proposals to final polished drafts (and public readings). The key to your success in this workshop, and as a writer in general, is serious and constant work. So plan to be part of a “community of writers” this semester, constantly reading, writing, revising, and giving extensive feedback to other writers throughout the semester.

Department Student Learning Outcomes (SLO)
As stipulated by the English and Comparative Literature Department’s Curriculum Committee, students who earn a B.A. from this department will demonstrate the ability to:
• read closely in a variety of forms, styles, structures, and modes, and articulate the value of close reading in the study of literature, creative writing, or rhetoric
• show familiarity with major literary works, genres, periods, and critical approaches to British, American, and World Literature
• write clearly, effectively, and creatively, and adjust writing style appropriately to the content, the context, and nature of the subject
• develop and carry out research projects, and locate, evaluate, organize, and incorporate information effectively
• articulate the relations among culture, history, and texts.

Pedagogical Approach
This course operates in a seminar/workshop format, with much more class conversation than instructor lecturing. You are expected to come to class prepared to participate every single class day. You are responsible for reading the following information online at http://www.sjsu.edu/english/comp/policy/index.html
• Course guidelines
• Academic policies (academic integrity, plagiarism, ADA and AEC policies)
• Estimation of Per-Unit Student Workload
• Recording policies
• Adding and dropping classes

Required Texts/Materials
The Fire Next Time by James Baldwin
Secondhand Time: The Last of the Soviets (selected chapters) by Svetlana Alexievich
Winners Take All: The Elite Charade of Changing the World by Anand Giridharadas
Meeting Faith: The Forest Journals of a Black Buddhist Nun by Faith Adiele

Classroom Protocol
Students are expected to log in to the Zoom sessions on time and be ready to work at the beginning of class.

Course Requirements and Assignments
Because this is a 4-unit course, students can expect to spend a minimum of twelve hours per week preparing for and attending classes and completing course assignments. This course will have integrated into the syllabus the following 1-unit enhancement: extensive self-directed reading outside of class and consideration of that reading through a series of short blog posts.

* Two manuscript submissions (this includes proposal and draft)
* Interview project
* Reflection paper on required reading

Workshop participation
You will submit about 9,000-10,000 words of polished, revised prose this semester. All four of your writing assignments should be at least 2,000 words long, with some of them being longer so you can reach your 9,000-word minimum requirement. Two of the four assignments must include some sort of research, and only one may be written solely from personal experience. All of the projects may be written in first, second, or third person, or a combination of points of view. You must do the assignments in at least two different genres (i.e. profile, biography, opinion editorial, critical essay, narrative essay, etc.). And, you are welcome to do projects on your own or with one or two partners (you’ll still write the same number of words).

You will also write three short (200-250 word) posts for our Writers Reading for Craft assignment. All printed assignments and projects (except those completed in class) must be typed, double-spaced, use a normal font (12pt. Times New Roman), and be submitted in the proper format (i.e. a query letter, a manuscript). All assignments are due on their announced due dates. Late work will be penalized one full letter grade for each class day that the project is late.

Grading Policy and Breakdown

Determination of Grades
The Department of English and Comparative Literature reaffirms its commitment to the differential grading scale as defined by the SJSU Catalog (Grades-Letter Grading). Grades issued must represent a full range of student performance: A+/A/A- = excellent; B+/B/B- = above average; C+/C/C- = average; D+/D/D- = below average; F = failure. Within any of the letter grade ranges (e.g. B+/B/B-), the assignment of a + or - grade will reflect stronger (+) or weaker (-) completion of the goals of the assignment.

Departmental Policy on Grading Written Assignments

Grades issued will adhere to the following SJSU academic standards of assessment:

The “‘A’ Range” essay will be well organized and well developed, demonstrating a clear understanding and fulfillment of the assignment. It will show the student’s ability to use language effectively and construct sentences distinguished by syntactic complexity and variety. Such essays will be essentially free of grammatical, mechanical, and usage errors.

The “‘B’ Range” essay will demonstrate competence in the same categories as the “‘A’ Range” essay. The chief difference is that the “‘B’ Range” essay will show some slight weaknesses in one of those categories. It may slight one of the assigned tasks, show less facility of expression, or contain some minor grammatical, mechanical, or usage flaws.

The “‘C’ Range” essay will complete all tasks set by the assignment, but show weakness in fundamentals (usually development), with barely enough specific information to illustrate the experience or support generalizations. The sentence construction may be less mature, and the use of language less effective and correct than the “‘B’ Range” essay.

The “‘D’ Range” essay will neglect one of the assigned tasks and be noticeably superficial in its treatment of the assignment— that is, too simplistic or short. The essay may reveal some problems in development, with insufficient specific information to illustrate the experience or support generalizations. It will contain grammatical, mechanical, and usage errors that render some sentences incomprehensible.

The “F” essay will demonstrate a striking underdevelopment of ideas and insufficient or unfocused organization. It will contain serious grammatical, mechanical, and usage errors that render some sentences incomprehensible.

This course must be passed with a C or better as a CSU graduation requirement.

Note that “All students have the right, within a reasonable time, to know their academic scores, to review their grade-dependent work, and to be provided with explanations for

Workshops
Workshops are the heart of this course. You are expected to be prepared for every workshop (which means you’ve read the manuscript, thought about it, and written down extensive ideas about it), and you are expected to be prepared to talk in class every day. 20% of your grade comes from workshop participation and absences will affect your workshop grade. Students are welcome to disagree with one another during class discussions; however, all our dialogue must be conducted with respect for each individual's opinions and work. In addition, please refrain from using your cell phones during class.

Attendance at Literary Readings
You are required to view (online) two readings by prose writers presented on the SJSU campus or elsewhere. Bay Area readings are listed on litseen and in the Sunday editions of the San Jose Mercury News and San Francisco Chronicle, and in Metro. After attending each reading, you will write a brief response (1-2 pages). Readings and writer talks the world over are now available to us 24/7 via Zoom. In your response papers, you may respond to any aspect of the reading, for example the speaker, the venue, the material performed, or the Q&A with the audience. These two assignments will go toward your participation grade; completion is mandatory to passing the course.

Participation
Students are expected to attend regularly and thoughtfully engage in class discussion. Be open to relating to the stories in various ways. This includes through your lived experience, previous reading, the way you respond to a character, like-able or not, or a particular, unexpected turn of phrase—all of which you can adapt to your own writing. Allow your work (and yourself) to undergo a positive change. Thoughtful peer feedback and self-reflection is vital to succeeding in the course.

Late Assignment Policy:
It is important that you turn in and workshop your stories/essays when you say you're going to. This is your most important responsibility. Late work will not be accepted if no prior arrangement has been agreed upon with the instructor.

Attendance
Students are expected to attend Zoom sessions regularly. Allowances will be made for students who have issues with computer access if they make the existence of those issues known to the professor in a timely manner.

Course Procedure
The course will be carried out in a completely online format. The course will include lecture and discussion on the assigned readings. A large aspect of the course is conducted in workshop format, which requires active student participation. You are expected to prepare feedback before class and engage in discussion with your peers about a) your understanding/interpretation of a given piece and b) your suggestions for improvement. You must also have your work ready to be workshopped based on the agreed upon schedule.

Manuscript Prep and Procedure
All student work is to be typed (12pt. font, Times New Roman, double-spaced, one-inch margins, with page numbers present somewhere on the page and stapled). Failure to follow directions will negatively impact your grade. Your name and the work’s title (even if it is untitled) are to always appear on the first page of the work’s final draft. If in doubt, just follow MLA guidelines: https://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/747/24/

Workshop Etiquette
Workshop is a place for respectful and constructive criticism. It is also a place where students practice articulating what makes narrative non-fiction creative writing distinctive, interesting, and compelling to read. The author should take notes and remain silent as their work is being discussed. Spoken and written commentary from peers must always be directed at the work, not the writer. Personal attacks and offensive or inappropriate language will not be tolerated. Students who cannot follow these guidelines will be dismissed from the course. If you receive any offensive comments on your work, please let me know as soon as possible so I can address the problem.

Plagiarism
Plagiarism is the intentional or unintentional illegal appropriation of "ideas or writings of another as one's own" (Webster's II New Riverside University Dictionary). As a rule, you should document word-for-word quotations from a source, ideas from a source that you simply put in your own words, tables, charts, graphs and statistics. *Any student caught plagiarizing any assignment will face appropriate disciplinary action.

Learning Environment
This course calls for and will provide a safe, secure learning environment where students can express their ideas, theories, opinions and views in a civil manner. All State, Federal and District codes protecting students’ classroom rights apply in the on-line format and will be observed and enforced. For example, there will be no use of derogatory language (racial, sexual, etc).

Student code of conduct (SJSU and classroom policies)
Students are responsible for maintaining a respectful environment in the classroom. San Jose State is committed to maintaining a safe education and working environment free of discrimination, harassment and sexual violence. Policies are available online at: http://www.sjsu.edu/studentconduct/policies/ http://notalone.sjsu.edu/policy_information/index.html
Per Title 5, the university prohibits “[activities] that substantially and materially disrupts the normal operations of the University” and “conduct that threatens or endangers the health or safety of any person within or related to the University community, including physical abuse, threats, intimidation, harassment, or sexual misconduct.” Please keep this in mind as you submit work for this course. The work you create in this class should aspire to resemble in quality the work we read. The work should be literary and character driven (this class is not the place for cat poems, romances, fan-fiction, fantasy, horror, crime, and the like.) I will not tolerate any work that is gratuitously violent, pornographic. If you aren’t sure about your work, see me before distributing it to your classmates.

Academic Integrity
Your commitment, as a student, to learning is evidenced by your enrollment at San Jose State University. The University Academic Integrity Policy S07-2 at http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S07-2.pdf requires you to be honest in all your academic course work. Faculty members are required to report all infractions to the office of Student Conduct and Ethical Development. The Student Conduct and Ethical Development website is available at http://www.sjsu.edu/studentconduct/.

Campus Policy in Compliance with the American Disabilities Act
If you need course adaptations or accommodations because of a disability, please contact me as soon as possible. Presidential Directive 97-03 at http://www.sjsu.edu/president/docs/directives/PD_1997-03.pdf requires that students with disabilities requesting accommodations must register with the Accessible Education Center (AEC) at http://www.sjsu.edu/aec to establish a record of their disability.

Accommodation to Students' Religious Holidays
San José State University shall provide accommodation on any graded class work or activities for students wishing to observe religious holidays when such observances require students to be absent from class. It is the responsibility of the student to inform the instructor, in writing, about such holidays before the add deadline at the start of each semester. If such holidays occur before the add deadline, the student must notify the instructor, in writing, at least three days before the date that he/she will be absent. It is the responsibility of the instructor to make every reasonable effort to honor the student request without penalty, and of the student to make up the work missed. See University Policy S14-7 at http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S14-7.pdf.

The SJSU Counseling Services is located on the corner of 7th Street and San Fernando Street, in Room 201, Administration Building. Professional psychologists, social workers, and counselors are available to provide consultations on issues of student mental health, campus climate or psychological and academic issues on an individual, couple, or group basis. To schedule an appointment or learn more information, visit Counseling Services website at http://www.sjsu.edu/counseling.

Final Examination/Evaluation:
In lieu of a final exam, you will turn in a substantial revision of one of your workshop essay submissions. Examples of changes that might be included in a substantial revision include adding or deleting a character, changing the point of view, inserting a new scene, and altering the ending of the story. It is not enough simply to correct the spelling and grammatical errors of the first draft. To earn a high grade on the revision, you must alter the story in some significant way. The revision is due the last day of class, but can be submitted earlier if the student wishes to workshop the piece and can find space in the class schedule for that.

University Policies:
Per University Policy S16-9, university-wide policy information relevant to all courses, such as academic integrity, accommodations, etc. will be available on Office of Graduate and Undergraduate Programs’ Syllabus Information web page.
