COURSE DESCRIPTION

English 1B is the second course in SJSU’s two-semester lower-division composition sequence. Beyond providing repeated practice in planning and executing essays, and broadening and deepening students’ understanding of the genres, audiences, and purposes of college writing, English 1B differs from English 1A in its emphasis on persuasive and critical writing (with less attention paid to the personal essay), its requirement for fewer but longer essays, and its introduction to writing informed by research. Students will develop sophistication in writing analytical, argumentative, and critical essays; a mature writing style appropriate to university discourse; reading abilities that will provide an adequate foundation for upper-division work; proficiency in basic library research skills and in writing papers informed by research; and mastery of the mechanics of writing.

Prerequisites: Passage of English 1A (C or better) or approved equivalent.

Required Textbooks and Materials:

- Dictionary, thesaurus, vocabulary and grammar usage resource, style guide
- 1 composition notebook (100 page, lined, blank, and bound)
- 3-4 large green books for in-class essays
COURSE GOALS AND STUDENT LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Building on the college-level proficiencies required in English 1A, students shall achieve the ability to write complete essays that demonstrate advanced proficiency in all of the following:

- Clear and effective communication of meaning.
- An identifiable focus (argumentative essays will state their thesis clearly and will show an awareness, implied or stated, of some opposing point of view).
- An appropriate voice that demonstrates an awareness of audience and purpose.
- Careful attention to review and revision.
- Effective and correct use of supporting materials, including independent research (e.g., quoting, paraphrasing, summarizing, and citing sources)
- Effective analysis, interpretation, evaluation, and synthesis of ideas encountered in multiple readings.
- Effective organization and development of ideas at paragraph and essay levels.
- Appropriate and effective sentence structure and diction.
- Command of conventional mechanics (e.g., punctuation, spelling, reference, agreement).

STUDENT LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

SLO 1: Students shall write complete essays that demonstrate the ability to refine the competencies established in English 1A.

SLO 2: Students shall write complete essays that demonstrate the ability to use (locate, analyze, and evaluate) supporting materials, including independent library research, and identify key concepts and terms that describe the information needed.

SLO 3: Students shall write complete essays that demonstrate the ability to select efficient and effective approaches for accessing information utilizing an appropriate investigative method or information retrieval system.

SLO 4: Students shall write complete essays that demonstrate the ability to synthesize ideas encountered in multiple readings.

SLO 5: Students shall write complete essays that demonstrate the ability to incorporate principles of design and communication to construct effective arguments.

SLO 6: Students shall write complete essays that demonstrate the ability to identify and discuss issues related to censorship and freedom of speech.

COURSE CONTENT

Writing: Assignments will emphasize skills and activities in writing and thinking that produce both the persuasive argument and the critical essay. Each demands analysis, interpretation, and evaluation. Assignments will give you repeated practice in prewriting, organizing, writing, revising, and editing. Your writing assignments will total a minimum of 8000 words and this word requirement will be met by writing a sequence of six essays. Two of your essays will require research. This 8000-word minimum does not include the final exam, quizzes, journals, or any brief or informal assignments but can include any major revisions of essays or assignments. A major revision is defined as rethinking or reworking an assignment rather than just correcting grammatical or structural errors. Papers that repeat errors identified in a previous draft or lack in-depth revision work will receive an automatic F grade. For all writing outside of class, use Times New Roman, 12-point font, in MLA format. You will be actively involved in peer editing and use of the Writing Center. Essays without peer-review will lose credit.

Reading: The reading you will do in English 1B will include useful models of writing for academic, general, and specific audiences. Readings will be used consistently with the course goal of enhancing ability in written communication and reading. The majority of the readings you do in English 1B will be devoted to analytical, critical, and argumentative essays. However, other readings will include poetry, fiction, and drama. Reading assignments from The Everyday Writer, Outliers, and handouts will challenge you to think about how you can become a more effective writer. Completion of all reading is both expected and required. The reading will acquaint you with a wide variety of writing styles, techniques, and genres, which will benefit your own writing and stimulate thinking.

Research: Basic research strategies, including locating materials, using them effectively (e.g., quoting, paraphrasing, summarizing), and citing them properly will be introduced in this class. A traditional research paper or a series of short essays in which library research informs the student’s position or thesis is required. A King Library reference librarian will lead at least one of our class sessions.

Journal Writing: The composition notebook is your most valuable tool in the class. You will use it to record ideas from the reading, copy favorite lines, jot down interesting words, record notes about writing, and paste scraps of writing that you collect, and store reference handouts about writing. The notebook will include ideas and reflections that will become the backbone of your essays and other writing. You should strive to write in your notebook for a minimum of ten minutes every day—writing in your journal once a week is required. I will collect your notebooks at regular intervals.

Reading Responses: As directed, you may be assigned reading responses, which are analyses of the reading assignments. When assigned, you must write a full page or provide complete answers to the questions to receive credit.

Quizzes: Quizzes are given each week to test reading comprehension and ensure students are keeping up with reading assignments. Missed quizzes cannot be made up.

Oral Presentations, In-class Writing, and Participation: Occasionally, I will assign oral presentations or miscellaneous in-class writing. Both will contribute towards participation score. Missed presentations and writing assignments cannot be made up.

Diversity: Assignments (both reading and writing) shall address issues of race, class, and gender when appropriate, and the perspectives of women and diverse cultural groups shall be incorporated into course instruction and materials in an inclusive and comprehensive manner whenever possible.

Final Assignment (Reflective Essay Project): Instead of a final exam, you will write a critical reflection at the end of the semester. Think of it as a scientific study of your progress as a writer over the next four months. Remember, writing is a process. Collecting your work and then reflecting on that work is part of the process. The final assignment is designed to get you thinking about your specific challenges, your strategies for improvement, your successes and failures, and your goals for the future. Every writer, no matter how accomplished, has room for improvement. This assignment—worth 10% of your grade—is your culminating experience. This course does not have a final exam.
GRADING POLICY

The Department of English reaffirms its commitment to the differential grading scale as defined in the official SJSU Catalog (“The Grading System”). Grades issued represent a full range of student performance: A=excellent; B=above average; C=average; D=below average; F=failure.

• The “A” essay is organized and well developed. It demonstrates a clear understanding of the topic and fulfillment of the assignment. Paragraphs are fully developed with interesting details, lively vocabulary, syntactic complexity, and graceful transitions. This paper is pleasing to they eye and virtually free of mechanical errors.

• The “B” essay develops controlling ideas and supports them with vivid, specific examples, but it may lack the sentence variety and graceful transitional phrases characteristic of an “A” paper. The “B” essay man contain minor grammatical or mechanical flaws, however, it demonstrates overall competence.

• The “C” essay is logically organized, but usually general and bland. The paragraphs need controlling ideas and specific examples. The vocabulary and syntactical complexity is less mature, making the essay less effective. The essay may contain a distracting number of mechanical and grammatical flaws.

• The “D” essay is poorly organized and generally unclear. It has inappropriate or inadequate examples, is noticeably superficial and simplistic, or it contains serious mechanical and grammatical problems.

• The “F” essay is similar to the “D,” but is more consistent in mechanical errors and less logical. It is generally unclear and shows little real effort.

WARNING #1: Late assignments are not accepted unless excused by physician. Attach original doctor’s note to assignment and turn it in at the next class period. Failure to do so will result in a permanent zero grade for that assignment.

WARNING #2: Papers that repeat errors identified in a previous draft or lack in-depth revision work will receive an automatic F grade. (For example, if I write “Mandatory: Review comma use after introductory element” on your paper, and I see the same error on the next revision, you will receive an automatic F on that paper.)
CLASSROOM PROTOCOL

Each class session is important. By attending every class session, you will maintain continuity from class to class; in addition, I often introduce new material, assign in-class or out-of-class assignments, or issue pop quizzes that do not appear on the syllabus. Perfect attendance will provide you the best opportunity to succeed in this course. Arrange on time: limit distracting late entries and ensure that you do not miss assignments or quizzes given at the beginning of class. Turn off and leave out of sight any computers, cell phones, or other electronic devices.

Dropping and Adding: Students are responsible for understanding the policies and procedures about add/drop, grade forgiveness, etc. Refer to the current semester’s Catalog Policies section at http://info.sjsu.edu/static/catalog/policies.html. Add/drop deadlines can be found on the current academic calendar web page located at http://www.sjsu.edu/academic_programs/calendars/academic_calendar/. The Late Drop Policy is available at http://www.sjsu.edu/aars/policies/latedrops/policy/. Students should be aware of the current deadlines and penalties for dropping classes.

For this class, all assignments are to be completed by the individual student unless otherwise specified. If you would like to include your assignment or any material you have submitted, or plan to submit for another class, please note that SJSU’s Academic Policy S07-2 requires approval of instructors.
