Course Overview and Organization

This course will be taught entirely online using Canvas! Readings, discussions, and assignments will be required twice weekly. This course is designed to provide upper division students with an opportunity to investigate the historic and cultural context of environmental thought, history, and philosophy. Please note that all assignments will be due by 11:59pm (PST) on the date due, and no late work will be accepted under any circumstances.

Personal Introduction

On the first day of class post a 300–word personal biography that includes your academic major, year, and a brief description of the people and experiences that have shaped your world-view. For full credit, respond to at least two other student's personal introductions with comments and questions.

Reaction and Response

Post a 500-600 word 'Reaction' to the day's readings to the 'Discussions' section in Canvas. The Reaction should address the discussion question posted by the instructor for that day, and include quotes from the text to support your ideas. In addition, each student must post at least two 'Responses' to other students' posted Reactions. For full credit Responses will encourage dialog by challenging assumptions and asking questions. The Reaction and Responses must both be posted by the end of the day on the date that the assignment is due.

Personal Environmental Philosophy

A 1000-1500 word personal environmental philosophy will be required from each student. The philosophy should describe your personal environmental perspective in direct reference to the course readings and class discussions. Also include how your personal lens - cultural identity, gender, family history, life experience, etc. influence your philosophy. Be sure to answer the question “How do I as an individual relate to the natural world – am I a part of it, or apart from it?” Include a bibliography with referenced material in APA style that includes at least five outside references (not from the course text). You may include as many references from the text as you like. See course schedule for date due.
