This system contains three vocal staves and a piano accompaniment. The vocal parts are in treble clef with a key signature of two sharps (F# and C#). The piano accompaniment is in bass clef. The lyrics 'at the dawn of day the dawn of day the dawn of day the dawn of day' are repeated across the vocal staves. The piano part features a steady eighth-note accompaniment in the right hand and a more active bass line in the left hand, ending with a forte (ff) chord.

This system continues the musical score with three vocal staves and a piano accompaniment. The vocal parts have rests, indicated by dashed lines. The piano accompaniment continues with a steady eighth-note pattern in the right hand and a more active bass line in the left hand.

The first system of musical notation consists of a grand staff with a treble and bass clef. The key signature has two flats (B-flat and E-flat), and the time signature is common time (C). The music features a complex, fast-paced melody in the treble with many sixteenth and thirty-second notes, and a supporting bass line with chords and single notes.

"this way"

The second system continues the musical piece. It includes dynamic markings: f (forte), ff (fortissimo), and mf (mezzo-forte). The melody remains intricate with rapid passages, while the bass line provides harmonic support with sustained chords.

(Grindoff conveys Claudine to the secret pass.)

The third system is marked with a p (piano) dynamic. The tempo or mood seems to shift slightly, with a more rhythmic, almost march-like quality in the bass line. The treble part continues with its melodic development.

The fourth system features a ff (fortissimo) dynamic marking. The music becomes more intense, with rapid sixteenth-note runs in both the treble and bass staves.

The fifth system continues with the ff dynamic. The bass line has a prominent, driving rhythm, while the treble part weaves a complex melodic line around it.

The sixth system shows a continuation of the intense, fast-paced music. The texture is dense with many notes in both staves, maintaining the ff dynamic.

the Count enters

The seventh system marks the entrance of a new character, "the Count". The music transitions to a more formal, possibly waltz-like rhythm. The treble part has a more melodic, dance-like quality, while the bass line provides a steady accompaniment.

(Lothair ascends the steps to the Magazine.)

The musical score is written for piano and organ. It begins with a treble and bass staff for the piano, marked pp. The organ part enters in the second system with a treble staff. The tempo is marked 'ALLEGRO CON FUOCO'. The score consists of seven systems of music. The first system is for the piano. The second system introduces the organ. The third system is marked ff. The fourth and fifth systems continue the organ accompaniment. The sixth system shows the piano rejoining the organ. The seventh system concludes with a 'FINE' marking.
