Case No. 5:22-cv-00641-BLF

DECLARATION OF CHARLOTTE SUNSERI IN SUPPORT OF DEFENDANTS' MOTION TO DISMISS

Judge: Hon. Beth Labson Freeman
Date: June 2, 2022
Time: 9:00 a.m.

21
22 I, Charlotte Sunseri, hereby declare:

23 1. I am an Associate Professor and Associate Chair of the Department of 24 Anthropology at San Jose State University (“SJSU”) and the NAGPRA (Native American Graves
25 Protection and Repatriation Act) Coordinator at SJSU. I have personal knowledge of the facts set
26 forth herein and could testify competently thereto if called as a witness.

27 2. I have been the NAGPRA Coordinator at SJSU since 2011. In that role, I have
28 been responsible for coordination of SJSU’s compliance with NAGPRA and the California

1 NAGPRA (“CalNAGPRA”) as they apply to SJSU’s collections of Native American human
2 remains and cultural items.

3 3. On June 22, 2021, I received a letter from the NAHC, attached to which were lists
4 of California Indian Tribes that may be traditionally and culturally affiliated with SJSU’s
5 collections of Native American human remains and cultural items from various archaeological
6 sites and with whom we were therefore required to consult. A true and correct copy of the letter,
7 with the attached list for the site CA-ALA-329, is attached as Exhibit A. The Muwekma Ohlone
8 Tribe is among those listed.

9 4. Attached hereto as Exhibit B is the preliminary inventory of SJSU’s Native
10 American remains and cultural items, showing SJSU’s determinations, based on consultations, of 11 which Tribes are culturally affiliated with each archaeological site, which we submitted to the 12 NAHC in December 2021. With respect to nearly all of the sites, the Muwekma Ohlone Indian 13 Tribe of the SF Bay Area is identified as being culturally affiliated, and the “basis of 14 determination” is that the Tribe “provided unambiguous and specific genealogical, documentary,
15 and oral history ties to this ancestral site.”

16 5. On September 18, 2021, Professor Elizabeth Weiss posted a photograph on Twitter
17 that shows her holding, without gloves, a skull that appears to be, based on the caption and the 18 background in the photograph, part of our collection from a geographic site in Alameda County
19 known as CA-ALA-329, with which the Muwekma Ohlone is culturally affiliated.

20 6. During the ensuing weeks and months, SJSU received many communications, by
21 email, Zoom, and telephone, from Native American Tribes, including the Muwekma Ohlone
22 Tribe, who are or may be culturally affiliated with the human remains and cultural items in our
23 collections. Attached hereto as Exhibit C is a true and correct copy of a chart showing the dates of 24 such communications, the Tribes involved, the collection or collections to which the 25 communication related, the mode of communication, and the outcome of and tribal
26 recommendations from the communication. This chart was created and augmented, on an ongoing
27 basis, by SJSU’s Tribal Liaison, Alisha Ragland, and me based on emails and Zoom and telephone
28 conversations with tribal representatives.

Re: Native American Consultation, Pursuant to Assembly Bill 275 (AB 275—CaINAGPRA), Health & Safety Code §8011, et seq, CSU San Jose CaINAGPRA, Alameda, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz Counties

Dear Ms. Sunseri:

Pursuant to Health and Safety Code § 8013, subdivision (a), attached is a consultation list of California Indian tribes that may be traditionally and culturally affiliated within the boundaries of the above referenced request.

AB 275 provides a process for California Indian tribes to request the return of human remains and cultural items held by state agencies and state-funded museums, as well as the voluntary disclosure and return of Native American human remains and cultural items held by private institutions or museums. (see Health & Saf. Code, § 8011.)

Health and Safety Code §8013, subdivisions (b)(1) and (c)(1), require that by January 1, 2022, each agency or museum that has possession or control of California Native American human remains, associated funerary objections, and unassociated funerary objects, sacred objects, or objects of cultural patrimony, provide an inventory, written preliminary summary, or update of a preliminary inventory of all remains, associated funerary objects and unassociated objects to the extent possible based upon any and all available information possessed by the agency or museum.

After the agency or museum has provided a copy of its preliminary inventory and summary to the Commission, the agency or museum must consult with California Indian tribes that may be culturally affiliated with the human remains and cultural items. (Health & Saf. Code, § 8013, subd. (j).) California law defines "consultation" to mean "the meaningful and timely process of seeking, discussing, and considering carefully the views of others, in a manner that is cognizant of all parties' cultural values and, where feasible, seeking agreement. Consultation between government agencies and Native American tribes shall be conducted in a way that is mutually respectful of each party's sovereignty. Consultation shall also recognize the tribes' potential needs for confidentiality with respect to places that have traditional tribal cultural significance." (Gov. Code, § 65352.4.) More than one California Indian tribe may be traditionally and culturally affiliated and may participate in consultation, but each California Indian tribe has the right to request individual consultations.

As part of the consultation process, if you receive notification of change of addresses or phone numbers from tribes, please notify the NAHC. With your assistance we can help assure that our consultation list remains current and accurate. For more information about your obligations under CaINAGPRA, you may consult the Commission's website at: <http://nahc.ca.gov/calnagpra/> and for the actual text of AB 275 at: https://leginfo.legislature.ca.gov/faces/billNavClient.xhtml?bill_id=201920200AB275

If you have any questions, please contact me at my email address: sarah.fonseca@nahc.ca.gov.

Opinion: SJSU professor dredges up painful memories for Muwekma Ohlone people

Anthropologist's actions dehumanize and marginalize Indigenous communities struggling to protect ancestral human remains

SAN JOSE, CALIFORNIA – OCTOBER 1: Elizabeth Weiss, a professor in the anthropology department at San Jose State University, poses for a portrait in her office with cast skulls of early humans in San Jose, Calif., on Oct. 1, 2021. (Dai Sugano/Bay Area News Group)

By CHARLENE NIJMEH |

PUBLISHED: October 9, 2021 at 5:15 a.m. | UPDATED: October 9, 2021 at 5:15 a.m.

Although we have become numb to the inhumane treatment suffered over generations at the hands of colonizers, the recent Twitter post by San Jose State University anthropology Professor Elizabeth Weiss (pictured smiling while holding the skull of one of our ancestors in her hands) dredges up the worst memories of our painful history — a time when we were labeled soulless savages with no right to the land we inhabited, children we bore or freedoms inherent to all people.

Weiss makes clear not much has changed in her regard towards our humanity. The picture rubs salt in the wounds of Indigenous communities struggling to protect their ancestral human remains and sacred sites.

My comments aren't meant to disparage all anthropologists. We count many as friends who work closely with us to respectfully handle our relatives. We believe there is a place for scientific analysis but only if done in a respectful manner and under the guidance, oversight and approval of the descendants.

Each tribe must decide based on their beliefs, not the beliefs of Weiss, who states "I have absolutely no beliefs in the supernatural," attempting to deflect from the real issue. The issue is not "religion vs science" as she claims but rather "respect vs disrespect" and "decency vs indecency." The disregard for the rights and beliefs of others is how people justify genocide and slavery.

In a recent news article addressing the controversy, Weiss defends her post by claiming that the skull of a Native American is no different than that of Egyptian mummies. That statement reinforces the false narrative that Muwekma Ohlone people are extinct, that we no longer exist and have no connection to our land or ancestors.

Weiss's reasoning is a symptom of a disease that has plagued our people for a century. It's called "political erasure," and it has been used by many over the past decades in their attempts to exterminate our community and our identity. All because our ancestors long ago settled lands that would become some of the most valuable real estate in the world.

They would never allow such valuable real estate to be returned to our people, so in 1927 they removed us from a congressionally mandated list of tribes to receive land — after which they claimed we "withered away" and became extinct because it's easier to say we don't exist than having to buy us land or ask our permission to desecrate our sacred sites and cemeteries. They couldn't allow a few Indians to stop progress

It's no coincidence that the Muwekma Ohlone Tribe was once a federally recognized tribe, although our status was never terminated by Congress. We were conveniently left off the official list of recognized tribes in 1978. So simple to erase a people's identity and take away their inherent constitutionally protected sovereignty.

Although many in our communities do support us, for those who have stayed silent in the face of our injustice, I say shame on you. The Apples, Googles and Facebooks who build enormous wealth on stolen Muwekma land, without a care for the displacement of the first inhabitants of these lands, I say shame on you. The politicians who ignored our calls to champion our cause because it was easier to stay silent, I say shame on you.

If you stay silent in the face of injustice, you are complicit. It's not enough to apologize. Injustice demands justice. Wrongs must be righted. I often wonder in this era of social justice, will Muwekma finally see justice, or will the Elizabeth Weiss's of the world continue to politically erase us by ignoring, dehumanizing and marginalizing our people?

Charlene Nijmeh is chairwoman of the Muwekma Ohlone Tribe of the San Francisco Bay Area region.

Inventory Protocols for AB275 Collections

Adapted from Dr. Lorna C. Pierce's Protocols for Skeletal Analysis

1. These are the remains of other human beings who were once cherished members of a family and community. The remains are to be handled with care and respect. They will be seen and handled only by San Jose State University NAGPRA personnel (Dr. Sunseri, Ms. Ragland, and Ms. Britton), and consulting Tribe's Monitors (listed below).
2. No eating, drinking, spitting, swearing, inebriation, or otherwise inappropriate decorum or dress will be permitted throughout the inventory process.
3. Menstruating personnel will not be permitted to handle ancestors.
4. No photographs or video of the ancestors or their belongings will be allowed.
5. The remains will not be washed, yet the bone surfaces may still be fragile so care must be taken to preserve the cortex of the bone during handling for inventory.
6. All handling will be kept to a minimum.
7. Gloves and face masks will be worn at all times. Should gloves rip or tear they are to be replaced immediately.
8. An inventory of the osseous elements will be made. No analysis will be conducted whatsoever.
9. If there are artifacts or belongings they will be counted and recorded in the inventory and then quickly replaced according to their provenience. No analyses will be conducted whatsoever.
10. A weekly report of our efforts will be recorded and shared with Tribal consultants.

The following Tribes have requested supervision of the inventory process for Alameda County Sites:

Muwekma Ohlone Tribe of the San Francisco Bay Area (Charlene Nijmeh, Chairperson)

Northern Valley Yokuts Tribe (Katherine Perez, Chairperson)

The Ohlone Indian Tribe (Andrew Galvan, Director)

The Confederated Villages of Lisjan (Corrina Gould, Chairperson)

PROTOCOLS FOR SKELETAL ANALYSIS

1. These are the remains of other human beings who were once cherished members of a family and community. The remains are to be handled with care and respect. They will be seen and handled only by members of the scientific team unless special permission has been procured from Julie Wizorek, Andrew Galvan and Dr. Pierce. Only photographs for documentation, scientific, and teaching purposes will be allowed. Security is to be maintained at all times.
2. The remains will be carefully washed in water using soft brushes and dental picks to remove dirt and caliche. The bone surfaces may be fragile so care must be taken to preserve the cortex of the bone.
3. Only one individual will be cleaned at a time so that there will be no possibility of mingling the remains.
4. The bones are to be air dried slowly. Then they will be placed in anatomical position on a table until completely dry. Only one individual will be placed on each table.
5. Each table will be labeled with the burial number.
6. If there are grave goods they will be labeled and kept with the remains.
7. An inventory of the osseous elements will be made.
8. Each individual will be aged and sexed.
9. Each individual will be examined for pathological lesions and anomalies.
10. The teeth will be charted and graded for dental attrition. Dental anomalies and abscesses will be assessed.
11. All articular surfaces will be examined and scored for degenerative joint disease.
12. The crania and long bones will be measured using standard calipers.
13. Stature will be estimated.
14. Standard radiographs of all elements will be made.
15. Small sections of bone may be removed for microscopic and chemical analysis.
16. A complete report will be provided to the necessary individuals and organizations.
