The Fight

Femicide is the murder of a woman due to her gender i.e., killing of a woman with its motive or context related to gender-based violence, discrimination or a subordinate role of a women, expressed by the desire to have rights over her, superiority, proprietary attitude, control over her behavior, or other reasons based on gender. Also, femicide is incitement to suicide due to the above reasons.

- In a 17-year period, approximately 1,000 women were killed in Mexico, one-third of whom were raped and mutilated (Schmall, 2011).
- Only 8 percent of femicides are punished in Mexico (Lettieri, 2017).
- It is important and relevant to human rights to recognize the impact the disappearance of women have had on a nation.
- It is crucial to acknowledge how systematic impunity at all levels of the government have increased violent trends towards women.

- Feminist Theory
- Bersani and Chen (1988) describe the feminist theory as the “patriarchal perspective.”
- Feminist theory states that machismo is a dominant model of masculinity in Mexico.
- Machismo: characterized by male power and aggression.
- Marianismo: characterized by subordinate and domestic gender roles.
 - Those that seek employment challenge the idea of womanhood, which causes the men to retaliate.

Program |

- 6 semi-structured interviews were conducted with community members in Morelia, Michoacan via Zoom or GoogleMeet.
 - Snowball sampling was used to allow research participants to recommend potential respondents.
 - Respondents were required to be over the age of 18 and must have provided informed consent to participate in the study.
 - Interviews were audio recorded to ensure collection of all important information.
