Call for Applications:
SJSU HRI Faculty Summer Research Grant (capped at $5500)

The SJSU Human Rights Institute is offering one Faculty Research Grant for the Summer of 2022. It will employ a faculty member for approximately six weeks of Summer research activities (5-10 hrs./week, total capped at $6000). The grant recipient will be announced at the 2022 HRI/ISSSC Spring Research Colloquium on Human Rights and Social Change, on April 28th (10:30 a.m.- 12:30 p.m. PST). For more information on the Spring Research Colloquium, including student project submission and attendee registration, please see here: <https://express.adobe.com/page/y0EhA2C7ryUr1/>.

What kinds of research qualify for the Research Grant?

The 2022 HRI Faculty Summer Research Grant is available to support proposed or ongoing human rights related scholarship (applied or traditional) by an SJSU faculty member. Research projects should be explicitly related to human rights, and should in some way contribute to human rights reporting or to the realization of human rights practice anywhere in the world. Special consideration will be given to junior faculty and to proposed research that could contribute to the annual Silicon Valley Pain Index [SVPI], released each July. For more information on the SVPI, please see here: <https://www.sjsu.edu/hri/policy-and-praxis/svpi/index.php>.

How to apply?

Any SJSU faculty member is eligible to apply. Please send a brief cover letter, resume/CV, and two page research proposal to william.armaline@sjsu.edu and miranda.worthen@sjsu.edu by Friday April 1st, 2022 at 11:59 p.m. Research proposals should first include their proposed contribution to human rights reporting or the realization of human rights practice. Second, proposals should include a brief project summary including timeline and proposed RSCA and other applied products.

Sincerely,

William Armaline, Ph.D.
Director, Human Rights Institute
Assoc. Professor, Sociology
