Course Requirements and Assignments

Success in this course is based on the expectation that students will spend, for each unit of credit, a minimum of forty- five hours over the length of the course (normally 3 hours per unit per week with 1 of the hours used for lecture) for instruction or preparation/studying or course related activities including but not limited to internships, labs, clinical practica. Out-of-class written assignments must be submitted to Canvas unless otherwise noted by the instructor. Written assignments uploaded to Canvas must be in one of the following word processing file formats: Microsoft Word (*.doc or .docx) or Rich Text Format (.rtf). Late assignment submissions will not be accepted without a documented, verifiable, and valid reason.

Overview of Participation – What constitutes participation?

In order to participate, one must be in attendance. Attendance per se; however, is not considered to be participation, and cannot be factored into the course grade. In-class comments based on the identification of discussion topics, presentations which exemplify knowledge of the subject matter, and the asking of probing questions are considered to be participation. Beyond the completion of assigned readings, sufficient time must be spent contemplating the material for the purpose of being prepared to participate in class discussions, and to complete assignments in a timely manner.

Canvas Discussions

Students will be required to post original comments and replies to other students' comments in response to topics posted by the instructor in the Discussions component of Canvas. Chosen topics will directly relate to key criminal justice issues. A set time frame will be in place for posting of comments and replies, students will only be able to post during said time frames. Full credit (i.e., points) for each posted topic will require at least (2) substantive posts, one original post and one reply to another student's post. See course schedule for topic posting dates, and check canvas. [CLO2]

Article Critique Discussion

The process of learning how to write an article critique is designed to improve and test your ability to critically analyze research. Clearly, the better written an article is, the more likely it is to be accepted by the intended audience; however, research has varying degrees of quality. Article Critiques will increase your ability to read professional writing, recognize and understand valid research, and it will aid you in identifying weaknesses in research and writing. Learning to recognize flaws in grammar and logic will improve your ability to recognize those flaws in your own writing (an additional handout will be provided) [CLO1-6]

Book Critique: May God have Mercy

Students will be required to write a book critique. The book critique must be no longer than 1,200 words, double-spaced, use Times New Roman 12-point font, and conform to APA style. [CLO1-6]

Topic and Thesis

Students will be required to write a paragraph describing their topic, and a clear thesis statement. The Topic and Thesis assignment must be double-spaced, use Times New Roman 12-point font, and conform to APA style. [CLO1 and 2]

Paper Outline, Introduction, and Annotated Bibliography

Students will be required to create a full paper outline, and write a paper introduction. The outline may be single-spaced, the introduction must be double-spaced, both must use Times New Roman 12-point font, and conform to APA style. [CLO1 and 2]

Students will write an annotated bibliography for sources used in their research paper. The annotated bibliography must include at least six (6) sources and annotations. Students should summarize, assess and reflect upon each source cited. The annotated bibliography must be no longer than 1,000 words, single-spaced, use Times New Roman 12-point font, and conform to APA style (not including cover page and bibliography).

Literature Review

Students will be required to write a literature review based upon their chosen research paper topic. The literature review must be no longer than 1,000 words, double-spaced, Times New Roman 12-point font, and conform to APA style (not including cover page and references). [CLO1-6]

Rough Draft (Complete)

Students will be required to write a complete rough draft (i.e., complete paper). The rough draft must conform to the research paper requirements, inclusive of double-spacing, Times New Roman 12-point font, and conform to APA style. Students are expected to use the Originality Report generated to address any potential plagiarism issues. [CLO1-6]

Research Paper

Each student will write a research paper examining a specific topic area related to a criminal justice issue. Students will be allowed to choose from a predetermined list of acceptable general topics, and will then choose a more specific aspect upon which to focus. Students may also propose a topic, but it must be cleared by the instructor.

The purpose of this paper is not just to specifically test knowledge, but to also force critical thinking about an aspect of the chosen topic. This paper should be no more than 2,000 words (not including the cover page, outline, abstract, or references). No late papers will be accepted. A handout detailing the expectations, content, formatting, and submission requirements will be provided in a timely manner. [CLO1-6]

Grading Policy and Late Submissions

Written assignments will primarily be graded on content; however, poor writing mechanics and APA formatting will result in a moderate point deduction. Assistance with APA can be found at:

<http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/560/01/>

In order to demonstrate comprehension of the course material, one must be able to write in a clear and effective manner. Always carefully proofread your assignments before submitting them. Late assignment submissions will not be accepted without a documented, verifiable, and valid reason.

Department of Justice Studies Reading and Writing Philosophy

The Department of Justice Studies is committed to scholarly excellence. Therefore, the Department promotes academic, critical, and creative engagement with language (i.e., reading and writing) throughout its curriculum. A sustained and intensive exploration of language prepares students to think critically and to act meaningfully in interrelated areas of their lives—personal, professional, economic, social, political, ethical, and cultural. Graduates of the Department of Justice Studies leave San José State University prepared to enter a range of careers and for advanced study in a variety of fields; they are prepared to more effectively identify and ameliorate injustice in their personal, professional and civic lives. Indeed, the impact of literacy is evident not only within the span of a specific course, semester, or academic program but also over the span of a lifetime.

Classroom Protocol

1. Students are expected to: attend all class meetings, arrive on time, stay for the duration of the class period, complete all readings and assignments in accordance with the dates on the course schedule.
2. Students are responsible for all missed notes, materials and announcements due to absence. You are encouraged to exchange contact information with someone in class just in case.
3. As neither a laptop nor tablet is required in class for the course, use of them is strictly limited to note taking or accommodation purposes. Students caught using such items for other non-class purposes will be prohibited from bringing them back to class, will be dismissed from class, and allowed to return the next class meeting. Students will also be dismissed from class for cell phone use of any kind during class time, unless expressly permitted by the instructor.
