COURSE CATALOG DESCRIPTION

Interdisciplinary, historical and comparative examination of justice concepts and controversies, including the state’s role in promoting justice and perpetuating injustice; legitimate versus illegitimate violence; human rights, stateless persons, and the international community; the relationship between social justice and criminal justice.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

In the last three decades, largely as a consequence of the war on crime and the war on drugs, the American prison population has grown to unprecedented levels. However, this prison explosion has disproportionately affected poor and minority communities, leading to the mass-imprisonment of an entire generation of young African Americans and Latinos. In turn, this has increased social inequality along the lines of race, class and gender.

In this course we will examine these developments from two perspectives. First, throughout the semester students will familiarize with a range of sociological critiques of American penal politics. Second, participants will analyze and discuss an extended ethnographic study of urban marginality in the United States. This will give us the opportunity to analyze the relations between crime, punishment, and social injustice not only from a scholarly perspective, but also from the point of view of those “public enemies” (drug dealers, gang members, ghetto hustlers, street “thugs”) whose voices are usually silenced in public and academic discourses about crime and punishment.

STUDENT LEARNING OBJECTIVES (SLOs)

1) IN-CLASS TESTS 1-2 (20% + 20% of total grade)

These tests will be done in class, and will consist of short-answer questions covering the readings from the JS 101 Reader (i.e., not the book In Search of Respect). Each question will receive a grade ranging between 0 and 10 (for a maximum of 20 points for each quiz). You are kindly requested to come to class with your own blue book on the dates the tests are due (3/9/16 – 5/4/16). Please remember that grammar, syntax, and structure are relevant elements of your grade: always double-check your assignments before submitting them. Please note: during the tests no notes, books, open laptops, or mobile phones will be allowed.

2) REFLECTION PAPERS (10% + 10% + 10% of total grade)

Throughout the semester you are asked to write three 1-2 pages long (computer typed, double-spaced) reflection papers on the book by Philippe Bourgois, In Search of Respect. These papers are due on 3/14/16 – 4/11/16 – 5/16/16. In each paper, you are asked to write a comment on the book, based on what you will have read at the time of each paper. In the commentary, you should feel free to express your point of view on the book as openly as possible. You are welcome to make reference to your own experience; however, your commentary should always be about the book's content, meaning, message, etc. (i.e., not simply about your own opinions, personal experiences, etc.). Please remember that grammar, syntax, and structure are relevant elements of your grade: always double-check your assignments before submitting them. Each reflection paper will receive a grade between 0 and 10.
