CATALOG DESCRIPTION

A multidisciplinary study of law enforcement from the early 1800s to the present. Focus on significant studies in relation to the role of police and analysis of current models and practices.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course examines the role and function of policing in modern American society. Course concepts include police operations, methods, issues, and challenges associated with crime control and reduction. The course will also examine the changing role and perception of police; the expectations placed on police by the larger society; police/community relationships; and police ethics, culture, and behavior.

COURSE GOALS

The Department of Justice Studies is committed to scholarly excellence. Therefore, the Department promotes academic, critical, and creative engagement with language (i.e., reading and writing) throughout its curriculum. A sustained and intensive exploration of language prepares students to think critically and to act meaningfully in interrelated areas of their lives—personal, professional, economic, social, political, ethical, and cultural. Graduates of the Department of Justice Studies leave San José State University prepared to enter a range of careers and for advanced study in a variety of fields; they are prepared to more effectively identify and ameliorate injustice in their personal, professional and civic lives. Indeed, the impact of literacy is evident not only within the span of a specific course, semester, or academic program but also over the span of a lifetime.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

- ✓ Understand and explain the basic procedures and functions of policing in America.
- ✓ Describe the challenges facing the practice of professional policing.
- ✓ Understand police culture and behavior, and the requirements of police work.
- ✓ Explain the importance of, and issues associated with, the use of discretion and force in law enforcement.
- ✓ Critically evaluate scholarly literature pertaining to the practice of professional policing in the United States.
- ✓ Describe the common methods, tactics, and strategies in policing.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS AND ASSIGNMENTS

Online Discussion (25%): Active participation in discussions is a necessary and integral part of the course. Each week there will be an online discussion, through Canvas, on specific readings and key issues or current events related to that week's overall topic. Students will be expected to discuss the implications of the issue or event to our understanding of the police and their complex relationship with society.

Topic Paper (25%): This assignment will require students to select a topic relevant to this course, locate a minimum of three scholarly articles identifying an issue associated with the selected topic, and prepare an assessment of this issue inclusive of recommended policy initiatives. Detailed instructions pertaining to this assignment are available via Canvas. This assignment is due on June 30th.

Midterm and Final Examinations (50%): Students will be administered Midterm and Final Examinations, each worth 25% of their final grade. Each timed exam will occur online and will cover material from lectures (including all media presented) and assigned readings. Each exam will be non-cumulative and comprised of multiple choice, true/false, and short-answer questions.
