Course Description
Qualitative research methods used in Justice Studies. Includes relationship of empirical evidence to theory, ethics in conducting empirical research, methodological design, interviewing techniques, field methods, participant observation, and content analysis.

Course Format

Online Course
This class adopts a synchronous, online format. Class will meet via Zoom on Wednesdays from 4:30 pm to 7:15 pm. All instruction takes place online, with no physical in-person or campus meetings. Internet connectivity, a computer, a voice recorder, and access to software apps (including Microsoft Office, Adobe Player, Canvas, etc.) are required for this class.

Faculty Web Page and MYSJSU Messaging
Course materials such as syllabus, handouts, notes, assignment instructions, etc. can be found on my faculty web page at http://www.sjsu.edu/people/ericka.adams and/or on Canvas Learning Management System course login website at http://sjsu.instructure.com. You are responsible for regularly checking with the messaging system through MySJSU on Spartan App Portal http://one.sjsu.edu (or other communication system as indicated by the instructor) to learn of any updates. For help with using Canvas see Canvas Student Resources page (http://www.sjsu.edu/ecampus/teaching-tools/canvas/student_resources).
Course Learning Outcomes (CLO)

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. Understand the range and significance of ethical issues in qualitative research.
2. Apply qualitative data gathering techniques.
3. Evaluate the strengths and limitations of various data gathering techniques (e.g., interviews, observations, content analysis, and focus groups).
4. Apply reflectivity in qualitative research.
5. Apply literature to analyze qualitative data.
6. Develop original qualitative studies using various methodologies.

Required Texts/Readings

Textbook

Other Readings

Required readings are listed below. Additional readings may be provided throughout the course via Canvas. Students are responsible for all additional readings.

Library Liaison

For help with library resources and library research (including the use of databases and online research materials—such as journal search engines), students are strongly encouraged to contact the Justice Studies Library Liaison: Nyle Monday, nyle.monday@jsu.edu.

Course Requirements and Assignments

A. CITI Training Certificate. Students are required to obtain CITI training for this class. Additional information will be provided in class.

B. Content Analysis and Presentation. For this assignment, students will conduct a content analysis of music videos/songs. All students will present the research they conduct for their content analysis. Additional information will be provided in class.

C. Field Observation and Presentation. Students will complete a field observation. All students will present the research they conduct for their field observation. Additional information will be presented in class.

D. Semi-structured Interview Project and Presentation: Students will conduct three semi-structured interviews for this class and present their findings via PowerPoint or Prezi. The interviews should be audio-recorded, transcribed, coded, and analyzed. Additional information will be presented in class.
E. Participation: Several qualitative techniques will be taught and practiced through in-class (Zoom) activities. As such, class activities and discussions are central to this course and will be much more productive if students are present and prepared to participate. Being prepared for class is key to making a meaningful contribution. All students are expected to participate in class activities and discussions.

“Success in this course is based on the expectation that students will spend, for each unit of credit, a minimum of 45 hours over the length of the course (normally three hours per unit per week) for instruction, preparation/studying, or course related activities, including but not limited to internships, labs, and clinical practica. Other course structures will have equivalent workload expectations as described in the syllabus.”

Final Examination or Evaluation

The culminating activity for this class will be submission of the semi-structured interview project and completion of the semi-structured interview PowerPoint presentation.

JS 207, Fall 2020
Classroom Protocol

All written assignments must be submitted by the due date to the respective Dropbox on Canvas. If you are unable to complete course requirements because of extenuating circumstances, please speak with (or email) Dr. Adams before the due date for the assignment. Late assignments are not accepted in this class.

Zoom Policy: Please turn on your cameras during class. Remember to look at the camera in order to make eye contact when you are speaking and turn off your mic when you are not. Students are expected to be engaged (and not doing non-class activities) during class.

Students are prohibited from recording class activities (including class lectures, office hours, advising sessions, etc.), distributing class recordings, or posting class recordings. Materials created by the instructor for the course (syllabi, lectures and lecture notes, presentations, etc.) are copyrighted by the instructor. This university policy (S12-7) is in place to protect the privacy of students in the course, as well as to maintain academic integrity through reducing the instances of cheating. Students who record, distribute, or post these materials will be referred to the Student Conduct and Ethical Development office. Unauthorized recording may violate university and state law. It is the responsibility of students that require special accommodations or assistive technology due to a disability to notify the instructor.

Justice Studies Reading and Writing Philosophy

The Department of Justice Studies is committed to scholarly excellence. Therefore, the department promotes academic, critical, and creative engagement with language (i.e., reading and writing) throughout its curriculum. A sustained and intensive exploration of language prepares students to think critically and to act meaningfully in interrelated areas of their lives—personal, professional, economic, social, political, ethical, and cultural. Graduates of the Department of Justice Studies leave San José State University prepared to enter a range of careers and for advanced study in a variety of fields; they are prepared to more effectively identify and ameliorate injustice in their personal, professional and civic lives. Indeed, the impact of literacy is evident not only within the span of a specific course, semester, or academic program but also over the span of a lifetime.

University Policies

Per University Policy S16-9 (http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S16-9.pdf), relevant university policy concerning all courses, such as student responsibilities, academic integrity, accommodations, dropping and adding, consent for recording of class, etc. and available student services (e.g. learning assistance, counseling, and other resources) are listed on Syllabus Information web page (http://www.sjsu.edu/gup/syllabusinfo), which is hosted by the Office of Undergraduate Education. Make sure to visit this page to review and be aware of these university policies and resources.
