* Classroom Protocols

Cellphones, laptops, and other technology

Students may not use their cell phone for non-class purposes in class. Laptops, tablets, and other such technology is allowed in class but for notetaking and educational use only.

Make-up/Late Policy

Students are expected to complete assignments on time and turn them in by the beginning of class on the day they are due. Students are not allowed to make up exams and presentations. If these are not completed; the student will receive a zero for that day. For papers such as the policy brief, 10 points will be deducted on top of the students' grade for each day it is late. Students only have up to a week to turn in a late paper: after that, it will be a zero.

The late policy may be waived in the following two situations. First. it may be waived at the instructor's discretion in case of an emergency. If an emergency arises that prevents you from completing your work on time, please email the instructor as soon as possible so that arrangements can be made for you to keep up in the class. Emergencies are defined as anything which is serious and unexpected. Emergencies cannot be written on the calendar in advance. Examples of emergencies are heart attacks, car accidents, a serious health crisis of the student or in the student's immediate family. Examples of non-emergencies are family weddings, vacations, conferences or any other event which can be planned around. Second, university-related absences (e.g., university athletics, conferences, and other university-related absences) are considered as excused absences. If students cannot complete assignments on time due to university-related absences, students should inform the instructor before the due time of an assignment.

Recording of Lectures

Please obtain my permission before taking an audio or video recording of lectures or other class activities.

I will almost certainly grant such permission, but it is common courtesy to let people know you will be recording them before you do so. Thus, out of respect to your colleagues and to me, please do not record this class without my explicit permission.

Course Requirements and Assignments

Case Study Analysis (30%)

Students will choose a case to do analysis. Students will first write a comprehensive case analysis. After completing the case write-up, students will lead a class discussion based on their analysis. Prepare a set of thought-provoking questions to engage the class in a productive discussion about the case and potential solutions. The case write-up should be submitted in a word document through Canvas before the due dates. More information will be given to students in class. Case study is used to evaluate CLOs 1, 2 and 3.

Research-to-Practice Paper in Nonprofit Management (30%)

The assignment is designed to bridge the gap between theoretical knowledge and real-world application by empowering students to act as nonprofit management consultants. In this research-to-practice paper, students will select a nonprofit organization of their choice and conduct an in-depth analysis of the organization's challenges and opportunities. Through rigorous research, critical analysis, and practical recommendations, students will offer valuable insights to improve the nonprofit's effectiveness and achieve its mission more efficiently. Research to practice paper is used to evaluate CLOs 2, 3 and 4.

Research-to-Practice Presentation in Nonprofit Management (20%)

The presentation is an integral part of the research-to-practice paper in the Nonprofit Management course. Its main objective is to showcase students' consultancy findings and recommendations for the selected nonprofit organization. This assignment evaluates CLOs 2, 3 and 4.

Class Participation (20%)

Regular class attendance is highly encouraged, though per University Policy F-15-12 (<http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/F15-12.pdf>), students will not be graded on daily attendance. Students will be graded on the quality and quantity of their participation in class discussion, group projects and during lectures. This assignment evaluates CLOs 1, 2, 3 and 4.
