Welcome from President Mary A. Papazian, Ph.D.

Dear New Students and Families,

Welcome to San Jose State University!

We are excited to have you as part of our Spartan community, particularly during such trying and challenging times. This handbook is intended to help you connect - and stay connected - to the University as your student's journey toward academic success and personal growth begins at San Jose State University.

Whether your student is the first in your family to attend college, or they are continuing a college-going legacy, congratulations! We are honored that they have chosen San Jose State for their higher education experience. We are here to offer advice, answer questions about the university, and help guide you as you become actively engaged in your students' new home here at SJSU.

The care and support from parents, family members and supporters of our new students is especially important during this time of new beginnings and educational exploration. Therefore, the need to allow students to sort through things independently and develop sustainable tools for success is critically important during this transition. This handbook provides resources and information to help you be meaningfully involved in your student's college journey, while also giving them space to grow and explore. This balance of involvement and distance can be challenging, but is incredibly important and rewarding as well. To stay connected, we encourage you to read the information by New Student and Family Programs and engage with their team.

Studies have demonstrated that students with strong support systems, especially at home, are more successful in college. So, even before the school year begins, we encourage parents and family members to engage with their students about expectations while attending SJSU. As the school year progresses, stay in touch with one another via email, text, letters and phone calls, and reach out to us if you have any questions or concerns.

Again, welcome to SJSU! We are excited that you are joining the Spartan family, and look forward to supporting your future success. Go Spartans!

Sincerely,

Dr. Mary A. Papazian President

Academic Success

Peer Connections is our campus wide tutoring, mentoring, supplemental instruction, and learning assistance center. They would like to share the Top 6 things you can do to empower your Student.

6

Academic Advising & Fall 2020

Students will hear from and meet with professional academic advisors who have many years of experience setting up schedules. The advisors will be showing your students roadmaps for the declared majors and will be recommending which classes to take.

5

Responsibility & Persistence

It is time to slowly let the student begin to take responsibility and to build their own persistence. College is a great place for your student to truly succeed or fail on their own. Two resources the students can use to understand academic advising are:

- MyGPS: Graduation Path to Success
- SJSU Advising Hub

4

Time Management

Time management is perhaps the largest struggle students, and in particular, new students face. There is an old adage that for every hour in class (otherwise known as a unit), the student should be spending 2-3 hours outside of class studying. So if we are asking students to sign up for 15 units – that equals 30-45 hours of studying outside of class. This is a full time job. There are many campus resources that offer workshops and guidance.

- Contact Peer Connections for more details
peerconnections@sjsu.edu

3

Academic Skills

It is better to spend 30 minutes every day studying a certain subject rather than saving up and studying for 4 hours in one day. If your student wants to know more about these techniques, they should make an appointment with a peer mentor in Peer Connections.

- Schedule an appointment

2

Ask for Help

Students need to be their own best advocate and ask for assistance. SJSU is more than willing to assist, but we cannot know everything a student needs. Students will need to speak up and stand up.

- Email peerconnections@sjsu.edu

1

Greatest Fan & Supporter

The number one thing YOU can do is just be there for your student. There may be times when they want to quit – cheer them on! When they are not giving it all, give them a nudge! You are their greatest fan and you are holding the foundation so they can take the next steps to independence. Let them know that you will be there if they fall and that you will be blowing the wind to let them continue to fly, but most of all, let them know that you believe in them!
