Senate Finance Committee Explanation:

Provision: This provision makes permanent the suspension of miscellaneous itemized deductions and adds to the Section 67(b) list of itemized deductions that are not miscellaneous itemized deductions (and that, as a consequence, remain deductible) a deduction for certain unreimbursed employee expenses of eligible educators.

For purposes of this new itemized deduction, an eligible educator includes an eligible educator under the current law deduction as well as interscholastic sports administrators or coaches in a school for at least 900 hours during a school year. Unreimbursed employee expenses for which the deduction is allowed include expenses such as books, supplies, computer equipment, and supplementary materials used by eligible educators as part of instructional activity whether or not in the classroom. Individuals who do not itemize deductions are still allowed the limited educator expense deduction that was in effect before enactment of this provision.
