Course Description
From the university catalog: Introductory survey of major topics in international relations, including global, national and individual causes of war and peace, international cooperation, north-south relations and political economy. This class satisfies Area D.

The course will study the major theories of international relations, the history and relevance of colonialism and imperialism, international political economy, international organizations, global political actors, the environment and war and terrorism. Students are expected to follow current global events and be able to apply the theories to these and other topics covered in the readings and class. The culminating project will be a group simulation on a current global crisis in which students will portray international political actors seeking to address and potentially resolve a crisis.

Workload and Credit Hour Requirements
Success in this course is based on the expectation that students will spend, for each unit of credit, a minimum of 45 hours over the length of the course (normally 3 hours per unit per week with 1 of the hours used for lecture) for instruction or preparation/studying or course related activities as described in the syllabus.

Political Science Program Learning Outcomes (PSPLO)
Upon completion of the Political Science major program, students should be able to demonstrate the following learning outcomes:

PSPLO 1 Breadth: Students should possess a broad knowledge of the theory and methods of the various branches of the discipline.

PSPLO 2 Application and Disciplinary Methods: Students should be able to formulate research questions, engage in systematic literature searches using primary and secondary sources, evaluate research studies, and critically analyze and interpret influential political texts. Students should be able to apply these techniques to identify, understand, and analyze domestic and international political issues and organizations.

PSPLO 3 Communication Skills: Students should master basic competencies in oral and written communication skills and be able to apply these skills in the context of political science. This means communicating effectively about politics and/or public administration, public policy, and law.

PSPLO 4 Citizenship: Students should acquire an understanding of the role of the citizen in local, state, national, and global contexts and appreciate the importance of lifelong participation in political processes.
General Education Learning Outcomes (GELO)
Social science courses should increase the student’s understanding of human behavior and social interaction in the context of value systems, economic structures, political institutions, social groups, and natural environments. This course is designed to fulfill the Social Issues general education requirement (area D3). As established by the University, upon successful completion of this course, students shall be able to identify and analyze the social dimension of society as a context for human life, the processes of social change and social continuity, the role of human agency in those social processes, and the forces that engender social cohesion and fragmentation.

Students will be able to:
1. demonstrate understanding of the ways in which social institutions, culture, and environment shape and are shaped by the behavior of individuals, both past and present;
2. compare and contrast the dynamics of two or more social groups or social systems in a variety of historical and/or cultural contexts
3. place contemporary social developments in cultural, environmental, geographical, and/or historical contexts; and
4. draw on social/behavioral science information from various perspectives to formulate applications appropriate to historical and/or contemporary social issues.

Additionally, there is a writing requirement of at least 1,500 words over the course of the semester.

Course Learning Outcomes (CLO)
Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:
CLO 1: demonstrate knowledge of major theoretical approaches to the study international relations and their use in explaining historical and contemporary international political behavior;
CLO 2: identify and explain the role of different actors in international politics, including individuals, states and international organizations;
CLO 3: demonstrate knowledge of major international political issues such as international political economy, causes of war, human rights, and global issues such as terrorism and global environmental problems;
CLO 4: conduct original research, critically analyze the literature, and propose original solutions to contemporary problems in international relations; and
CLO 5: discuss and debate major international relations issues in a collaborative manner.

Grading Policies

• 10 percent will be deducted for each week that a paper is turned in late or a presentation/debate is done late. A period of 7 days or less is considered 1 week. No papers will be accepted after 11:59 pm of the last official day of the class.

• No late Notes for Case Study Presentations and Final Comparative Case Study Debates will be accepted. Notes will be due no later than 60 minutes after class ends.

• The final grade for the Notes for the Presentations and Debates will be calculated at the end of the semester based on the number of complete sets of notes. If you wish to know your grade on the Notes add up the number turned in at any point in the course and divide by the number graded as “complete”. Each set of notes is worth 8.33 points.

• There are no exams in this class.

• Sign up for the presentation day/time slots for the Case Study Paper Presentation and the topic for the Comparative Case Study Paper and Debate on the calendar in Canvas. It is your responsibility to present on the day you are signed up. If you are still listed when class begins but do not present you will receive a 0 and it cannot be made up without a demonstrable excuse related to medical, religious, or university related activities. A demonstrable excuse should be related to a medical, religious, or university related events only. Please contact me in advance or as soon as possible and provide appropriate documentation.

• Students may change their Case Study Paper Presentation sign up day/time slot one time during the semester. If no open slots exist students may switch with another student. Students who are signed up in more than one day/time slot will be expected to go during the earliest day/time slot. To avoid this form happening be sure to remove any extra day/time slots.

• All Key Concepts for the Readings must be turned in on Canvas no later than 10:29 am on the day they are due. No late Key Concepts will be accepted.

• All other writing assignments will be turned in on paper and stapled. No assignments will be accepted by email. Missing assignments will receive a 0 and be graded as late when the paper is posted. Please contact me if the paper is late due to a demonstrable excuse.

• Note that your grade in Canvas is only for the graded assignments at that point in time and are subject to change with each new graded assignment up until the final grade is officially posted. To estimate your grade at any point during the semester use the Canvas grade sheet tool to estimate their grade by filling in future ungraded assignments.

• Grades will be rounded up to the next full letter only when the difference is .49 or less.
Classroom Policy
• You may not copy, record or post any video or audio from this class.
• No electronic recordings or photographs of any kind of the class are allowed except as an accommodation with campus documentation. University Policy S12-7, http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S12-7.pdf, requires students to obtain instructor’s permission to record the course.
• The posting of any electronic recordings, tapings or any other type of documentation of any aspect of this course on the internet is not allowed.
• Any act of plagiarism will result in an automatic “F” or “Incomplete” for the assignment.
• Any student who has special needs that may affect his or her performance in this class is asked to identify his or her needs to Dr. Ovetz in private by the end of the first day of the semester and provide documentation as soon as possible. Any resulting class performance problems that may arise for those who do not identify their needs will not receive any special grading considerations.

Mask Policy
This class will follow the current SJSU campus requirement that a surgical or N95 or surgical mask be worn at all times. Masks must remain on at all times in class and cover the mouth and nose with protective fabric. For all of our mutual safety and well-being please adhere to this SJSU policy.

Canvas
For help with using Canvas please see the Canvas Student Resources page at: https://www.sjsu.edu/ecampus/teaching-tools/canvas/student_resources/. If you need immediate help please contact the Canvas Help at the tab on the left side of the Canvas page.

Required Readings
Required course readings can be found in the following assigned books and readings. You are expected to complete the readings before they are scheduled to be discussed.

Required course readings can be found in the following required books.

An ebook is available through the SJSU library on a limited basis. Note that it is important to obtain this exact edition because the newer edition does not contain the same chapters or cover the same case studies.

There are also required readings found in the modules on Canvas.

Library Liaison
Please contact the Political Science librarian Essy Barroso-Ramirez to answer questions and provide help with research, citations, and other library needs. Essy can be reached by email at essy.barroso-ramirez@sjsu.edu, 408-808-2041, and https://libguides.sjsu.edu/politicalscience

You may also go to SJSU library webpage and databases for political science, http://libguides.sjsu.edu/az.php?z=47559
The library has full access to International Relations: The Key Concepts (Routledge Key Guides) 3rd Edition which is a valuable reference guide to many of the concepts and topics we are studying.

You might also use these backgrounders on numerous current international issues from the Council on Foreign Relations: https://www.cfr.org/backgrounders?utm_medium=email&utm_campaign=backgrounder-announcement

University Policies
Per University Policy s16-9, university-wide policy information relevant to all courses, such as student responsibilities, academic integrity, accommodations, dropping and adding, consent for recording of class, etc. and available student services (e.g. learning assistance, counseling, and other resources) are listed on Syllabus Information web page (http://www.sjsu.edu/gup/syllabusinfo/) which is hosted by the Office of Undergraduate education. Make sure to visit this page to review and be aware of these university policies and resources.

Office Hours
I am available during in person office hours to talk about the readings, quizzes or a current event you plan to write about for your Local Government Observation Paper.

If you have a scheduling conflict with my designated office hour please send me a specific day and time from Mon to Fri before 6 pm in which you will call me at the phone number on the top of page one.

Course Requirements
The following requirements compose the graded work for the course.

Key Concepts for Required Readings
This assignment assesses for PSPLO 1 and 2; GELO 1 to 4; and CLO 1, 2 and 3

You are required to turn in eight sets of the key concepts for the weekly assigned readings (books and articles) for each theory to receive a 100 for this assignment. There are a maximum of ten sets of Key Concepts that can be turned in.

How to write the Key Concepts for Required Readings and how they will be graded:

* Use a section header for the set of key concepts from each book chapter or article. The section header should be the name of the source (eg, number of textbook chapter, and author’s name for articles)
* Number each key concept
* Provide the concept exactly as it appears in the reading, do not rephrase it.
* Briefly explain the key concept in your own words using no more than 2 sentences
* Provide no less than 4 key concepts, not all the concepts or vocabulary for each reading assigned for that week. Be selective about what is most important. To identify key concepts and how they differ from vocabulary see “How to Identify, Explain and Write a Key Concept” on Canvas.
* Proofread for grammar, punctuation, spelling, capitalization, proper citation style, formatting, etc.
* Key concepts must be at least 75 percent complete and turned in before the first class we begin each new theory to receive credit. 75 percent is reached if you average at least 3 key concepts for each reading
* Key concepts will be graded as Complete/Incomplete and assigned a numerical grade based on how many are turned in. Each set of Key Concepts will count as 12.5 points
• Key Concepts must be turned in on Canvas only no later than 10:29 am. Plan ahead and be sure to click the “Submit” button no later than 10:29 am or you will be not be able to submit your assignment once it becomes 10:30 am.

• Key Concepts cannot be turned in late. Completing the key concepts before class meets is intended to help you be prepared to participate in class discussions and follow the presentations.

Presentation and Debate Notes

This assignment assesses for PSPLO 2 and 3; GELO 3 and 4; and CLO 1, 2 and 3.

Students must turn in at least thirteen sets of Notes for the Case Study Presentations and Comparative Case Study Debates. Notes on all the Presentations and Debates for a single class will be counted a one set of Notes. Notes are not required for all lecture and practice classes. Notes will be graded as Complete/Incomplete. No late Presentation and Debate Notes will be accepted.

How to write your Presentation and Debate Notes and how they will be graded

- Include the name of the presenter and the topic of their case study.
- Take notes on the Case Study Presentations and Debates as you would take notes on a class lecture.
- Write your notes in short phrases. Complete sentences and paragraphs are not needed. They do not need to be in outline form.
- Only Presentation and Debate Notes turned in at the end of the class for which they were taken will be accepted.
- Missed Presentation and Debate Notes cannot be made up. If you have a demonstrable excuse the missed Notes will not be counted.
- Presentation and Debate Notes will be graded as Complete/Incomplete in Canvas.
- Notes can only be completed during the class and cannot be made up because the Case Study Presentations and Debates will be missed.

Case Study Papers and Comparative Case Study Paper and Debate

Please see the document “Assignment Instructions for the Case Study Papers and Comparative Case Study Paper and Debate” for detailed instructions for these assignments.

The Case Study Paper assignment assesses for PSPLO 1 and 2; GELO 1, 2 and 4; and CLO 1 to 4
The Case Study Paper Presentation assignment assesses for PSPLO 1, 2 and 4; GELO 1 and 4; and CLO 1 to 4
The Comparative Case Study Paper assignment assesses for PSPLO 3 and 4; GELO 3; and CLO 1 to 5
The Comparative Case Study Paper Debate assignment assesses for PSPLO ; GELO ; and CLO 1 to 5

Practice Presentations

Please see the document “Assignment Instructions for the Case Study Papers and Comparative Case Study Paper and Debate” for detailed instructions for these assignments.

The Practice Presentation assignment assesses for PSPLO 1, 2 and 4; GELO 1 and 4; and CLO 1 to 4

About Research

Perfecting your research skills are critical to your success in this class. You are required to use the library databases and use all three types of sources described below. You must use APA citation style for both in text and bibliographic sources according to Lunsford guide found on the class Canvas page. APA in text and bibliographic citations count for 20 percent of your grade for each Case Study Paper. For each incorrect use of APA in text or full bibliographic citation or missing type of source two points will be deducted for the first four instances of either. After these four instances a full 10 percent will be deducted.

When citing sources paraphrase and cite when possible. If you draw from a source you will be expected to cite it. Do not include quotes that add little of value to your argument such as quotes, passages that repeat your analysis or just give facts that can be paraphrased and cited. Filler quotes will not be counted.

About Sources and References

There are 3 types of acceptable sources that may be obtained through the library print and database sources only. The 3 types of sources are:

- academic: books, specialized encyclopedias (academic field specific, do not use Brittanica, Funk and Wagnall, etc), journal articles. These are written, read, and peer reviewed by academics and published by academic presses. Do not cite an academic paper if it hasn’t been published in a book, journal or academic encyclopedia. Just because it appears on a site ending in “.edu” doesn’t mean it’s been published.
- trade: publications specific to an industry or non-profit sector, and governments/inter-governmental organization reports and read only by people who work in that field. Do not use factsheets or press releases.
- popular: newspapers, newsmagazines, documentary films, TV/radio news. These can be read by anyone and are written by professional journalists or guest experts.

Types of unacceptable sources: commercial non-news sources, aggregators, personal websites, blogs, social media, press releases, factsheets, editorials, open source wikis, or unpublished academic papers.

For help with identifying these required types of source please contact the reference librarians at the link below. You should also use this short guide on how to distinguish between the types of sources: https://libguides.utoledo.edu/journalvsmagazine

When citing sources in your paper and in the bibliography:
1. Use APA citation style only (use the Lunsford style guide on Canvas)
2. Use in text citations and a list of references. Do not use footnotes.
3. When using APA in text citations the cite should appear as follows: TEXT (last name, year, page number) for publications.
4. List your references in alphabetical order by last name—do not number your sources

About Grammar and Proofreading

Grammar, or syntax, and formatting will count for 10 percent of each Case Study Paper. One point will be deducted for each instance of incorrect syntax or formatting mistake up to four instances. After five or more instances the full 10 percent will be deducted from your grade. For this reason, it is essential that you carefully proofread your papers several times and utilize the writing center or tutoring before turning them in. Editing comments will not be given in the graded feedback.

You will be graded for grammar, punctuation and style to the extent that it reduces your ability to express your research and analysis clearly. While grammar, punctuation and style are not the most significant part of the grade you will receive, it does affect your ability to communicate your ideas and analysis clearly and effectively. If you have any issues concerning your language skills you wish to discuss with me please visit me during office hours.

Where to Get Help with Your Writing
Although I do not proofread student papers before they are turned in I am happy to help you with specific selections of text. For help I encourage you to first go to the campus Writing Center for help with your writing and the campus reference librarians for help with research and citations.

I strongly encourage you to use the SJSU Writing Center’s Homegrown Handouts on many aspects of the writing process here: https://www.sjsu.edu/writingcenter/handouts/

The Writing Center, https://www.sjsu.edu/writingcenter/, also offers up to two 45 minutes sessions per week by emailing them a request at writingcenter@sjsu.edu. It is also partnered with MLK Library to offer live chat services for students who have quick writing-related questions that can be addressed in 10-15 minutes. Live chat is available during select hours and no appointment is necessary.

The reference librarians can also help with using the library databases to find your outside sources and do the APA references (remember to use the Lunsford Guide). You can email or chat live with a librarian on the website here: https://library.sjsu.edu/ask-librarian/ask-librarian

You may also use the Lib Guide cited above and the short guides to writing research papers at http://owl.english.purdue.edu/sitemap/
