

Major Focus: International Politics

Four Key Courses for the focus (12 units)

- 150 War and Peace
- 152A International Organizations
- 154 U.S. Foreign Policy
- 147 Third World Politics

Two of the following courses (6 units)

- 136 U.S. National Security Policy
- 148 Democratization
- 149 Comparative Public Policy & Administration
- 152B Model United Nations
- 180 or 184 Individual Studies or Directed Reading (arranged with advisor)
- 181 Internship (international internship)
- Another course in Political Science (as appropriate arranged with advisor)

International Regional Concentration (9 units)

- One Political Science core regional course 140, 141, 142, 144, 145, 146
- Two regional elective courses selected from disciplines in consultation with an advisor - constituting a single international regional concentration.
Students may select from the following regional concentrations:
 - Europe
 - Africa
 - Asia
 - Russia/CIS
 - Middle East
 - Latin America

Four Lower Division Core (12 units)

- PS 001
- PS 002
- PS 003
- PS 004

Methods, Capstone

- Soc 15 or Stat 95 (GE, prep for major)
- PS 100W (GE, prep for major)
- 2 years (20 units) foreign language proficiency in regional concentration
- PS 190 or 190H (3 units)

Upper Division

- 1 of these courses in Political Theory: 160A, 160B, 160C (3 units)
- 1 of these courses in US Politics: 102, 103, 105, 106, 114, 122, 130 (3 units)

Electives outside Political Science

- 20 units outside the discipline and outside the regional concentration.
Courses taken to satisfy the language requirement are counted to satisfy this elective requirement as well as other courses selected in consultation with an advisor (0-10 units).

Total: 61-68 units (16-26 from outside major) (plus 6 units supporting from GE)