For any requirement you are missing upon application, submit this memo in lieu of requested documents.

Conditional admission will give the applicant extra time to meet admissions requirements that were delayed due the COVID-19 crisis. In order to begin the program, however, all admission requirements must be met by the first day of classes. If you are unable to meet these requirements in time to commence the semester, you will not be able to start the program. Instead, we will help you defer your admission for one semester at no extra cost. If you still cannot meet these requirements by the admissions deadline for that following semester, they will have to reapply to the program at a future date at their own expense.*
