SOCI 101-02 Social Theory

Course and Contact Information

Instructor: Peter Chua

E-Messaging: Please use Canvas <Inbox> for electronic communication

Communication: Please check your Canvas <Announcements> regularly

Course Format: This course combines real-time instruction (via in-person and online using the Zoom video conferencing software with designated location & date/time sessions) with guided online modules and materials to deepen and advance your learning.

Class Sessions (In-Person & Zoom): DHM 162 (in-person) and Zoom link available via the Canvas course site (online)

Class Days/Time: Tuesdays and Thursdays, 9:00 – 10:15 a.m. (see Canvas schedule)

Office Location: DMH 223

Student Hrs. (In-Person & Zoom): Tuesdays & Thursdays 12 noon – 1 p.m., and by appointment

Student hours are in-person and via Zoom. The zoom link is available via the Canvas course site. I personally welcome you to contact me outside of class. We can address together, for instance, how to better understand a major topic, to improve study skills, to learn more from the assigned readings, and to address barriers in your learning of course materials. I hope you find the course accessible, inclusive, and personally transformational.

Prerequisite: SOCI 1 Introduction to Sociology and junior-level standing

Co-Requisite: SOCI 100w Writing Workshop

Recommendation: Completion of at least one other sociology courses to appreciate fully the issues and debates discussed in this course

Course Website: sjsu.instructure.com

To log-in, use:
- Your 9-digit SJSU ID number as the username
- Your SJSUOne password as the password

COVID-19 Health and Safety Campus Practice: Keeping our SJSU community safe is of utmost importance in the pandemic. Students, faculty, and staff are expected, such as, to (1) wear a mask while indoors on campus, regardless of vaccination status, (2) keep current with their COVID-19 vaccinations or exemptions, (3) stay home if COVID-19 related symptoms exist, (4) participate in any required COVID-19 testing, and (5) abide appropriate SJSU health/safety protocols and Santa Clara County health orders.

Notification in Case of Changes to Course Modality due to the COVID-19 Pandemic: Depending on the course of the COVID-19 pandemic, the university may make changes to the way in-person classes are offered. If this happens, please look for university announcements and course messages (via emails and Canvas Inbox messages) about changes to this in-person course.
What You Will Learn: Course Description

Many ideas exist. Some claim to be sociologically insightful. Which ones are sociological? What are they really saying? Why are many sociological ideas disagree with each other? How are they relevant for us? This class gives you the appropriate tools to examine the big debates in sociological theory, the contesting perspectives and analysis on modern life offered by early theorists such as Durkheim, Weber, and Marx, and the important ways in which these perspectives have been developed and adapted into contemporary theories to address more recent concerns.

You will read, in their own words, some of the notable theorists who have shaped professional sociology. Thus, this course offers you the opportunity to hone your skills in reading, analyzing, comparing, and critically evaluating major perspectives related to sociology. That is, you will be asked to develop your skills of critical analysis and self-expression by applying theories appropriately and by presenting clear written arguments about our social surroundings.

Course Learning Outcomes (CLOs)

Upon successful completion of this course, you will be able to:

CLO1: Explain—in a comparative manner—the central theoretical concepts and perspectives in sociology

CLO2: Evaluate the strengths and weaknesses of interpretive and critical perspectives and the weaknesses of out-of-date perspectives in sociology

CLO3: Develop individual, research, and social-change activities by using the most appropriate sociological perspective related to a range of concerns and situations

Technology Requirement and the Canvas Course Learning Management Platform

You are required to have regular access to:

- A dependable personal computer with capacity to access the internet and the Canvas learning management system course website
- A dependable web browser with appropriate settings and an updated version for your computer to access and use Canvas, library databases, and other relevant websites
- An office software suite with basic word-processing capacities as such LibreOffice (available...
Students are required to have an electronic device (laptop, desktop or tablet) with a camera and built-in microphone. SJSU has a free equipment loan program available for students.

Students are responsible for ensuring that they have access to reliable Wi-Fi during tests. If students are unable to have reliable Wi-Fi, they must inform the instructor, as soon as possible or at the latest one week before the test date to determine an alternative. See Learn Anywhere website for current Wi-Fi options on campus.

SJSU operates a web-based learning management software called “Canvas by Instructure.” This course uses Canvas as its website to distribute reading materials, selected handouts and assignments, and other instructional materials and to submit selected assignments.

How You’ll Know You’re Learning, What You’ll Be Doing: Course Requirement and Assignments

The following activities and assignments ensure that your successfully achieve your learning outcomes:

1. Active engagement during in-person and peer-to-peer online discussions and activities, and with course learning materials (to assess CLO#1, #2 and #3): Required readings and activities provide introductory insights and important details on social theorists and their theories. Take good notes on your questions. Please bring your questions and the readings to class so we can discuss them closely. If you do not understand specific readings, I urge you strongly to meet with me in my office, so we can discuss them more thoroughly. Mini-lectures focus on substantive materials and analysis and expand on the materials introduced in the readings. The lectures relate to but not necessarily cover every important aspect of the readings. Make sure not to form improper habits of passive listening, passive note-taking, and regurgitation.

Evaluation of class engagement based on the following criteria: you are raising open-ended questions based on the readings, your attention to details in the readings, your ability to synthesize discussions, and your contribution in online and in-person discussion through critical dialogue and your active and frequent engagement with course learning materials. Factors that aid in your engagement include completing the assigned work before class, arriving to class on time and staying for the whole time, paying attention, and actively and respectively listening to the discussion. Factors that may limit your full participation include digital and mobile distractions (checking your phone, messages, emails, or online websites not related to the course), reading any materials not related to the discussion, and not staying awake. You may not earn any credit related to participation if you miss ten or more class sessions (which is about 40% or more of the course).

Recording Zoom Classes

Portions of this course (i.e., lectures, discussions, student presentations) will be recorded for instructional or educational purposes. The recordings will only be shared with students enrolled in the class through Canvas. The recordings will be deleted at the end of the semester. If, however, you would prefer to remain anonymous during these recordings, then temporarily turn off identifying information from the Zoom session, including student name and picture, prior to recording.

Students are not allowed to record without instructor permission

Students are prohibited from recording class activities (including class lectures, office hours, advising sessions, etc.), distributing class recordings, or posting class recordings. Materials created by the instructor for the course (syllabi, lectures and lecture notes, presentations, etc.) are copyrighted by the instructor. This university policy (S12-7) is in place to protect the privacy of students in the course, as well as to maintain academic integrity through reducing the instances of cheating. Students who record, distribute, or post these materials will be referred to the Student Conduct and Ethical Development office. Unauthorized recording may violate university and state law. It is the responsibility of students that require special accommodations or assistive technology due to a disability to notify the instructor.

2. Skill-practice “quiz”-survey responses (to assess CLO#1, #2 and #3): You are expected to complete several short skill-practice surveys via Canvas online. You’ll demonstrate your comprehension of readings and your ability to use and apply theories.

3. End-of-semester report and presentation (to assess CLO#1, #2 and #3): The end-of-semester report and presentation expand on issues raised in the readings and mini-lectures and allow for the sharpening of your analytical, speaking, and argumentative abilities. You will be asked to write an eight-page argumentative essay. Learning to write well can be developed only through persistence and hard work. In addition to my specific suggestions and encouragement, there are university resources available to help you foster these skills. I will give details on the specific organization and content for the report and presentation later in the semester.

4. Major reflection and discussion posts (to assess CLO#1, #2 and #3): You’ll demonstrate your learning of concepts and perspectives and your ability to apply these perspectives through mid-term and end-of-semester reflections and discussion posts.

University Policy S16-9 Course Syllabi (www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S16-9.pdf) requires the following language to be included in the syllabus:

“Success in this course is based on the expectation that students will spend, for each unit of credit, a minimum of 45 hours over the length of the course (normally three hours per unit per week) for instruction, preparation/studying, or course related activities, including but not limited to internships, labs, and clinical practica. Other course structures will have equivalent workload expectations as described in the syllabus.”
Final Examination
More details can be found in University policy S17-1 (www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S17-1.pdf), which states that: “Faculty members are required to have a culminating activity for their courses, which can include a final examination, a final research paper or project, a final creative work or performance, a final portfolio of work, or other appropriate assignment.”

Grading Information

Approach to Grading
Your final grade derives from multiple methods of evaluation and several opportunities for practice, improvement, and learning with meaningful feedback. Evaluation is fair and just, reflecting your effort and learning based on clear directions and criteria.

Determination of Your Course Grade
The satisfactory completion of the following requirements determines your overall grade:

Request for an Incomplete Grade

To receive an incomplete for the course, you must inform the instructor in person seven-days before the last day of instruction. A grade of incomplete will only be considered for those who are:

- Passing the course with a C or better,
- Present a legitimate, non-academic reason to the instructor, and
- Have only one major assignment left to finish.

Course Accessibility

This course provides you a learning environment that allows you to achieve your academic goals. It is designed for every student to learn and succeed.

Presidential Directive 97-03 requires that students with disabilities requesting accommodations register with the Accessible Education Center (AEC) to establish a record of their disability. AEC will contact the instructor with further details, if needed.

If special arrangements are needed in cases of emergency or if the building must be evacuated, please make arrangements with the instructor.

A Few Things to Help You Be Successful

My pedagogical values …

- I think that learning and teaching are complex, endlessly fascinating collaboration with everyone in the course
- I view my role is to facilitate your learning and critical thinking, so you have more control over your own learning process. My role is not to transmit (and pass on) facts, information, and pre-existing knowledge
- I am interested in your academic development and personal well-being. I believe you can do the work, and I will coach you through the process
- I think learning should be exciting while also challenging

As the instructor, I expect myself …

- To promote a caring, accessible, enriching and respectful learning environment for all
- To work hard to help you succeed in the course
- To listen and respect the views of everyone in the course
- To be available if you need extra help
- To share my training and experiences and show how to make use of course content
- To model professional skills, ethics, and values
- To treat everyone fairly, justly, and reasonable, particularly related to grading
- To provide meaningful feedback on your work
• To take lead in maintaining a positive learning environment

As students, you are expected ...
• To be motivated and have a positive attitude to work to your fullest potential to achieve the course learning outcomes
• To commit a reasonable amount of effort to complete the readings and assignments, persevere, and have fun in learning the materials and to grow from mistakes
• To be responsible in your learning by preparing for class, participating in discussion and activities, learning from others through teamwork, and finishing and turning in assignments and exams on time
• To submit your own work for individual assignments and exams. You should be confident and know that you have what it takes to succeed in this course without engaging in academic misconduct because it is best to always practice academic integrity. You should not jeopardize the hard work you’ve put into this course.
• To know that your attendance and participation will benefit you in several ways
• To listen and respect the inputs and opinions of others
• To be comfortable in taking risks by asking questions so you’ll learn more. This also promotes greater interactive-learning and student-centered discussion
• To cooperate and collaborate with your peers in teams, in class, and outside of class

Also, see “Communication, Netiquette, and Expectations” at the course website.

SOCI 101 Spring 2022 Course Schedule

This course schedule is tentative, subject to change due to the COVID-19 pandemic, climate related emergencies (including major storms, climate, fire, and other environmental disruptions), technological disruptions (including major internet and electrical outages), and other serious disturbances. Fair notice through announcements will be given to adjustments to the schedule and assignments.
