“Bilingualism is often seen as ‘good’ when its rich English speakers adding a language as a hobby or another international language, but ‘bad’ when it involves poor, minority, or indigenous groups adding English to their first language, even when the same two languages are involved” (Bowern, 2014, p.1)

Course Format: Hybrid with In-Person and Asynchronous Sessions

This course will be a hybrid class with in-person and asynchronous sessions. Students are expected to attend all in-person classes. All materials for the asynchronous sessions will be posted on Canvas and students are expected to access and complete these assignments independently. Students will need access to a computer or tablet device with internet connectivity. Students are expected to complete the lecture and reading activities in the “online weeks” to be ready to engage in active activities in class. Please contact https://sjsuequipment.getconnect2.com/ for more information about Laptop Loan and WiFi Hotspot Loan if you have connectivity needs.

CANVAS Learning Management System

All course materials (announcements, syllabus, handouts, assignment instructions, lecture videos, etc.) will be available on Canvas. You are responsible for regularly checking both CANVAS and your SJSU email (the one that ends with “sjsu.edu”) to learn of any updates. For CANVAS support, please review the Canvas Student Resources at http://www.sjsu.edu/at/ec/canvas/student_resources_new/index.html

Course Description (from SJSU Catalog)

This course will address the developmental levels of speech, language, and communicative competence including dialectical variations, and an introduction to second language acquisition and communication disorders. The course will provide a foundation for language assessment and development.

Course Learning Goals:
There are four goals for this course.
1. Students will develop knowledge of typical and atypical language development and the role of special education services in supporting individuals who are experiencing atypical language development.
2. Students will focus on the development of communicative competence, with a particular focus on the way in which speech and language develop and influence each other. As part of our discussion, we will consider dialectal variations, second language acquisition, and the impact of communication disorders on an individual’s ability to interact with and successfully express themselves with others.

3. Students will gain an understanding of both disability and language with an emphasis on social, historical, political and economic contexts. Through readings, lectures, and activities, students will understand how disability intersects with other social markers (race, culture, language, gender, sexuality) to inform identity formation.

4. Students will study how disability and language labels impact individuals in schools and societal contexts.

University Learning Goals

SGR1: An ability to consider the purpose and function of one’s degree program training within various local and/or global social contexts and to act intentionally, conscientiously and ethically with attention to diversity and inclusion.

SK2: Depth of knowledge required for a degree, as appropriate to the discipline.

IS3.1 Fluency with specific theories, assumptions, foundational knowledge, analytical and interpretive protocols, tools, and technologies appropriate to the discipline or field of study.

IS3.2 Skills necessary for the mastery of a discipline at the level appropriate to the degree and leading to lifelong learning, critical and creative thinking and practice, effective communication, thorough and ethical information gathering and processing, competence with quantitative and/or qualitative social sciences, quantitative reasoning and sciences.

AK: An ability to apply theory, practice and problem solving to new materials, settings, and problems.

California Council on Teacher Credentialing (CCTC) Standards

In compliance with the California Teacher Credentialing Commission’s Teaching Performance Expectations (TPEs) for the Single Subject Credential Program and Program Standards for the Education Specialist Instruction in Mild to Moderate Disabilities Credential Program, students will address, examine, and/or employ techniques that will help them develop the ability to meet the following Program Standards and Teaching Performance Expectations:

Program Standard 3: Educating Diverse Learners

Program Standard 11: Typical and Atypical Development
Multiple Subject and Single Subject Teaching Performance Expectations

*The special education department (EDSE) requires a B or better in each course in order to count for credit/pass.

 Extra Credit may be offered on a rolling basis in the class and will not count against class points but add to total score at the end of the course.

University policy F69-24 at http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/F69-24.pdf states, “Students should attend all meetings of their classes, not only because they are responsible for material discussed therein, but because active participation is frequently essential to insure maximum benefit for all members of the class. Attendance per se shall not be used as a criterion for grading.”

All written assignments must meet the standards of academic and professional quality

and printed on clean white paper using black ink. Class participation will not be able to be made up if a student misses a class.

Note that “All students have the right, within a reasonable time, to know their academic scores, to review their grade-dependent work, and to be provided with explanations for the determination of their course grades.” See University Policy F13-1 at http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/F13-1.pdf for more details.

Classroom Protocol

All students are expected to arrive on time to synchronous class meetings and stay until the sessions ends. It is preferred that cameras be turned on whenever possible, but especially during discussions. Students are encouraged to take breaks as needed and to find a comfortable space for our synchronous meetings if possible. Computers can be muted if your environment is loud and/or we are not having an active discussion.

University Policies

Per University Policy S16-9, university-wide policy information relevant to all courses, such as academic integrity, accommodations, etc. will be available on Office of Graduate and Undergraduate Programs’ Syllabus Information web page at http://www.sjsu.edu/gup/syllabusinfo/"

Writing Support

Please make use of the writing support available through the university. Resources available on campus include:

1) LCOE Writing Tutor (http://www.sjsu.edu/education/students/Writing%20Tutor%20Summer%202017.pdf)
2) SJSU Writing Center (http://www.sjsu.edu/writingcenter/)
3) Peer Connections (http://peerconnections.sjsu.edu/)

Accessible Education Center

If you need course adaptations or accommodations because of a disability, or if you need to make special arrangements in case the building must be evacuated, please make an appointment with me as soon as possible, or see me during office hours. Presidential Directive 97-03 requires that students with disabilities requesting accommodations must register with the Accessible Education Center (AEC) to establish a record of their disability.

SJSU Counseling and Psychological Services

The SJSU Counseling and Psychological Services is located on the corner of 7th Street and San Carlos in the new Student Wellness Center, Room 300B. Professional psychologists, social workers, and counselors are available to provide confidential consultations on issues of student mental health, campus climate or psychological and academic issues on an individual, couple, or group basis. To schedule an appointment or learn more information, visit Counseling and Psychological Services website at http://www.sjsu.edu/counseling
