Course Description

University Catalog: In a world with rapidly diminishing resources new conflicts are emerging based on factors such as ethnicity, economic opportunity, religion, and nationalism. Explore global circumstances leading to conflict. (3 units)

GEOG112 is an Area V course: Culture, Civilization, and Global Understanding meant to provide students with an appreciation for cultures outside the United States. With this should come increased awareness of how foreign traditions have influenced American culture and its' global interactions. As a geographic survey of pressing contemporary issues – in politics, economy, security, and human-environmental impact - course readings, documentary films, in-class exercises, and discussions will be used to gain greater understanding of complex issues. Students will hone critical, relational, and contextual thinking and be expected to communicate independent views effectively, particularly in a written format.

GE Learning Outcomes (GELO)

Upon successful completion of this GE course, students will be able to:

- GELO 1) Compare systematically the ideas, values, images, cultural artifacts, economic structures, technological developments, and/or attitudes of people from more than one culture outside the U.S.
- GELO 2) Identify the historic context of ideas and cultural traditions outside the U.S., and how they have influenced American culture.
- GELO 3) Explain how a culture outside the U.S. has changed in response to internal and external pressures.

Required Texts/Readings

MLK Library subscribes to CQ Researcher. All required journal article readings are available for free online with student login.

Course Requirements and Assignments

SJSU classes are designed such that to be successful, it is expected students will spend, for each unit of credit, a minimum of 45 hours over the length of the course (normally three hours per unit per week) for instruction, preparation/studying, or course related activities, including but not limited to internships, labs, and clinical practica. Other course structures will have equivalent workload expectations as described in the syllabus.

- Active online participation is weekly assignments is imperative to your overall grade in this online course (51% of your total grade), and so frequent discussion and engagement on Canvas is expected each week. In addition to posting individual assigned content in the forums you must read through fellow classmate posts and reply to at least two classmate responses per topic (GELO 1).
- Student groups will be tasked to lead an assigned CQ Researcher article (GELO 3). This will include preparation of summary slides on the reading along with supplementary materials to enhance said content. Once the online discussion forum goes live the student groups are responsible for not just adding individual responses, but also to moderate classmate posts. This includes commentary or further questioning. At the end of the week the student group will email a recap to the instructor. Students in the group earn the same grade unless the instructor is notified early on that members are not contributing equally.
- Links to several academy award winning documentary films are posted to complement readings. Twice during the term, you are to demonstrate in writing how you have thought critically about narratives or images shown on the film and how it relates to global geography and the social sciences (GELO 2). Each essay must be three typed pages (double-spaced, 12-point Times New Roman font, with 1" margins on all sides) summarizing new facts gained along with a thought-provoking critique. Film essays must include a word count noted at the end [750 words minimum].
- A Review Article is a concise paper usually written by an editor that summarizes, compares, and contrasts all recent findings on a specific topic or theme. Create a 500-word review article, + or – 25 words, tying together any two CQ Research articles assigned this term (GELO 1). Your article must be one typed page (single-spaced, 12-point times new roman font with no more than 1" margins on all sides).

Final Examination

The final exam is a single essay. Clearly defend in a written essay what you have gained from this course and how this global understanding applies to your postgraduate goal(s) (GELO 2). Cite specific learning examples to support your argument.

Extra Credit Opportunities

Geography is a fascinating and varied discipline. Learn more about Geographic Information Science from renowned speakers during the SJSU Center for Spatial Analytics and Visualization (SAVI) speaker series. Write a 500-word essay detailing interesting facts you gained from the webinar to earn 25-extra credit points. To encourage attendance, you may watch and write about both SAVI events to earn up to 50 extra credit points.
