Course Description:

Comparative geography of our world: regions and countries, natural environments and resources, settlements and land use, cultural diversity, economic and political patterns.

Course Goals

Global geography is an introduction to the major distinctive world regions to more fully understand natural environments, culture, resources, agriculture, manufacturing, trade, cities, and contemporary societal challenges. In addition, this course provides a greater understanding of the increasing interdependencies among and between regions within a rapidly globalization system.

Upon successful completion of this course, students shall be able to identify and analyze the social dimension of society as a context for human life, the processes of social change and social continuity, the role of human agency in those social processes, and forces that engender social cohesion and fragmentation.

GE Learning Outcomes (GELO)

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

GELO 1: Place contemporary developments in cultural, historical, environmental, and spatial contexts; Students will demonstrate achievement through assigned readings, in-class discussions, mapping exercises, essays, and the term research project.

GELO 2: Identify the dynamics of ethnic, cultural, gender/sexual, age-based, class, regional, national, transnational, and global identities and the similarities, differences, linkages, and interactions between them; Students will demonstrate achievement through assigned readings, in-class discussions, mapping exercises, essays, and the term research project.

GELO 3: Evaluate social science information, draw on different points of view, and formulate applications appropriate to contemporary social issues; Students will demonstrate achievement through assigned readings, in-class discussions, mapping exercises, essays, and the term research project.

GELO 4: Compare and contrast two or more ethnic groups, cultures, regions, nations, or social systems; Students will demonstrate achievement through assigned readings, in-class discussions, mapping exercises, essays, and the term research project.

Course Content Learning Outcomes

Other technology requirements

Access to a computer and reliable Internet source as well as a word processing program (such as MS Word) are required. Students are also required to create a Sapling account.

Class Protocol

- Assigned chapter readings from the textbook must be completed prior to scheduled lectures for active participation in classroom discussions.
- All assignments are due as stated on the course schedule and late work will be penalized 5% everyday it is late.
- I will be presenting material in lectures that may not be available in the textbook for which you are responsible for so on-time arrival and attendance is crucial. You are responsible for finding out what you missed if you are absent or tardy; refer to the course canvas page for materials and/or handouts covered during class.

Course Requirements and Assignments

We will be covering seven chapters (Chapters 1-4 and Chapters 5, 9, & 11) in the assigned text, and you will be expected to read and understand the materials. Please remember that there is a 5% penalty per day for assignments (including quizzes) that are submitted after the deadline:

1. Chapter Quizzes – (30% of total grade) At the end of every chapter we cover, you will be responsible for taking an on-line quiz of 15 questions. You will either be assigned a text quiz or a video quiz. Once you are done taking each quiz, you will submit it to me via Canvas for grading. Some of the chapters that we will cover have several BBC documentaries or related material that help provide interesting context to the material covered. We will watch one of these documentaries or related materials, answer a few questions, and submit it for grading as a form of a quiz on canvas.

2. Current Global Events research paper – (25% of total grade) The research paper will consist of a minimum of 1500 words and is required for this course. It is a written document with a required map, and references to be submitted through Canvas. Detailed instructions and guidelines will be posted in the Canvas online classroom.

3. Weekly Discussion Write Ups – (20% of total grade) At the end of every chapter we cover, you will be responsible for responding to a prompt which I will post in the discussions tab in Canvas. Your response must address the prompt in no less than 5 sentences. You will also be responsible for responding to 2 of your classmates prompts as well.

4. Final- (25% of total grade) For your final you will be responsible for creating a travel guide to any of the countries we study over the course of the semester. You will all be responsible for creating some sort of media component to the project in which you tell us about the country, about their rich history, their economic system, their political system, and their main GDP. You must also include a reference page and a map.

SJSU classes are designed such that in order to be successful, it is expected that students will spend a minimum of forty-five hours for each unit of credit (normally three hours per unit per week), including preparing for class, participating in course activities, completing assignments, and so on. More details about student workload can be found in University Policy S12-3 at <http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S12-3.pdf>.

Current Global Events Research Paper : There are two components to the current global events research paper. The first being a paper proposal due on October 18th via Canvas, which will consist of a one page (MLA) write up on a topic you want to cover and three academic references. The final paper will be due on November 22nd thru Canvas. It must be approximately 4-5 pages and include a separate Bibliography at the end of the paper.

Topics may include: Any current event that has happened in the past year which may include the border crisis, Chile declining to sign a U.N. pact because they believe migration is not a human right, the rise of Brazil as a regional economic power, growing high tech economy in India, etc....If you need help finding or narrowing down a topic come see me. Keep in mind that this assignment is for a global geography course meaning place and space play a significant role. All sources must be academic, and articles should be peer reviewed.
