

San José State University

COURSE OUTLINE: Geography 115, Global Development

Course Number: GEOGRAPHY 115

Course Title: Global Development

Year: Spring 2020

Course Schedule: Mondays 4:30 pm – 7:15 p.m.

Location: Clark Hall, Room 224

Instructor: Dr. Aharon de Grassi

Office: Washington Square 111

Office Hours: Mondays 11:30 am – 12:30 p.m.

Office Phone: (408) 924-5425

Office Fax: (408) 924-5477

E-mail Address: aharon.degrassi@sjsu.edu

Course Format:

The course will have a two and a half hour lecture-type meeting a week, which will include country case studies and the occasional video presentation. In addition, there will also be regular discussion exercises to enhance participatory learning and interaction in the course.

Course Requirements:

|-------------------------|-----|
| Assignments | 20% |
| Midterm Exam | 15% |
| Exercises/Participation | 15% |
| Research Paper | 25% |
| Final Exam | 25% |

Readings:

Required Textbook: Potter, R. B. et al. (2018). Geographies of Development. 4th Edition, Pearson/Prentice Hall Education Ltd.: New York.

- Students must always bring their book copy to every class

Short Readings: Most weeks will also have a short journal article, definition, newspaper or magazine article, or book chapter to read. Additional short pieces may be handed out in class or posted on Canvas as the semester proceeds.

Optional:

For further clarification of ideas, terms, theories, and perspectives, you should also actively consult the various dictionaries, guides and encyclopedias available. These often have different coverage and quality, so it can be useful to consult more than one. Try starting with the Gregory et al. Dictionary:

Course Description (from Catalog):

Exploration of contemporary global economy using variety of analytical approaches developed by geographers. Provides geographic perspective on world economy and environmental issues within a spatial context. Prerequisite: Upper division standing. GEOG 101 recommended.

Detailed Course Description:

This course introduces a wide range of theories in the study of international development and their relation to geographic issues. We will examine critical questions of why there are such dramatic differences in livelihood opportunities, environments, standards of living, and welfare and wealth throughout the world. We will read, discuss, and write about a lot of really pressing contemporary issues, and try to understand how to think both historically and geographically about the causes, dynamics, and patterns of international development. We will draw on your insights and experiences as we encounter differing perspectives and discuss drastically different viewpoints about some of the most fundamental issues on the planet.

Course Objectives:

This course examines geographical theories of development and underdevelopment and their relevance to the wider topics of development theory. By the end of the course, the students will be expected to:

1. Understand the conflicting nature of definitions of development
2. Evaluate the role of colonialism and imperialism in the global economic system
3. Define and evaluate the conflicting theories of development
4. Discuss the role of globalization in the development - underdevelopment debate
5. Discuss the role of various geographic concepts in explaining the potential for development in different regions of the world.
6. Identify and explain the role and effect of various actors in the global political-economic system on the development of regions across the world.

Detailed Course Requirements, Grading and Evaluation

Studying development effectively requires in-class discussion and interaction, as well as hands-on learning-by-doing activities. As a result, I have tried to structure the course requirements and grade distribution accordingly.

As is SJSU policy, success in this course is based on the expectation that students will spend, for each unit of credit, a minimum of 45 hours over the length of the course (normally three hours per unit per week) for instruction, preparation/studying, or course related activities, including but not limited to internships, labs, and clinical practica. Other course structures will have equivalent workload expectations as described in the syllabus.

Formatting

All assignments and texts should be submitted formatted to double space, 12-point font, Times New Roman, 1-inch margins.

Exams

1. Mid-term exam – Take-home exam. You will choose two sets of exam questions from four. Questions will be topic specific and require detailed knowledge of a particular lecture area. Part A will be composed of short answer-type questions. Part B will be an essay-type question. There will be questions on the lecture material, and the readings, as well as some questions that are about both a combination of the readings and the lecture material.

2. Final exam – Take-home exam. Again, you will answer two sets of exam questions from four on the paper. The exam covers only material (e.g. assigned readings) from the second half of the course, and the exam questions are structured in the same way as the mid-term.

Assignments

There will be at least four assignments, designed primarily to assist you in preparing your research paper. These assignments include: (1) selecting a country, sector, and topic; (2) compiling an initial bibliography; (3) composing a thesis statement that is a succinct argument outlining the paper; and (4) a rough draft that will be used for peer proof reading. A few further assignments may be added relevant to course material.

Research Paper

Throughout the course, you will be working on a research paper due May 4th. The paper must be at least 10 pages (excluding tables, pictures, and references). The paper should be organized around a tight argument that focuses on one country, a particular sector, and specific topic/question/problem. We will discuss further the scope of the papers and the expectations for the paper arguments. This is a fundamental part of the course that will enable you to familiarize yourself with real issues and will thereby help you engage, apply and think critically about some of the vast range of theories and concepts we will be covering in the course.

Two or three students may work together on a single paper, however the requirement remains of at least 10 pages per person AND collective papers must be cohesive (not separately written sections stitched together), and will receive a single grade.

You will share the conclusions of your paper with the class in a brief (5-10 minute) presentation, which will count towards your participation grade.

Participation, Exercises & Attendance

These are short individual or group discussions/exercises and learning activities that will be given and accomplished once every week in class. At least half of the time will be devoted to seat work, group discussion and the rest of the time for class-level presentations, discussions and summarization. Students are expected to attend all the classes and to arrive on time. Repeated absences without legitimate documented reasons will result in 5% reduction of the course grade for each absence. Your active participation in discussion is a key component of this course. The weekly schedule is condensed, and consequently it is crucial that students keep up with the concepts and material in the course – discussion is one of the most important ways to do this because it allows students to clarify, compare, and deepen their understanding.

Course Etiquette & Policy on Devices in Class

Allowed:

- ✓ Using your computer if you sit in the back row
- ✓ Taking class notes on your computer
- ✓ Consulting readings on your computer

NOT Allowed:

- × Using your computer for something not directly related to the class discussion
- × Recording audio/video without explicit permission
- × Having your cell phone out or visible on the table
 - × no texting
 - × no using your cell phone
{unless you are demonstrably using it briefly to immediately address a specific question or issue in class}

If you are using your computer for anything other than taking notes, it will affect your participation grade. You will only get an initial warning, a final warning, and then will not be allowed to use devices for the remainder of the course.

Please be respectful and considerate with your fellow students and your classroom community – if you are doing non-class activities then you will distract people sitting nearby and diminish their learning. Also respect yourself and give yourself a break from the internet – university courses are unique valuable, once-in-a-lifetime opportunities to think deeply, challenge yourself, and learn with your fellow students.

Grading and Evaluation

Grading Policy

There is no “curve” for this course. Pluses and minuses are given. You receive the grade you earn through your own work and the effort you put into the class. Course grades will be determined using the following point components:

| Requirement | Percentage of Grade |
|-------------------------|----------------------------|
| Assignments | 20% |
| Midterm Exam | 15% |
| Exercises/Participation | 15% |
| Research Paper | 25% |
| Final Exam | 25% |
| Total | 100% |

Grade Scale

| Percent | Letter Grade |
|----------------|---------------------|
| 97-100 | A+ |
| 94-96 | A |
| 90-93 | A- |
| 87-89 | B+ |
| 84-86 | B |
| 80-83 | B- |
| 77-79 | C+ |
| 74-76 | C |
| 70-73 | C- |
| 60-69 | D |
| <60 | F |

Dropping and Adding

Students are responsible for understanding the policies and procedures about add/drop, grade forgiveness, etc. Refer to the current semester's Catalog Policies section at <http://info.sjsu.edu/static/catalog/policies.html>. Add/drop deadlines can be found on the current academic year calendars document on the Academic Calendars webpage at http://www.sjsu.edu/provost/services/academic_calendars/. The Late Drop Policy is available at <http://www.sjsu.edu/aars/policies/latedrops/policy/>. Students should be aware of the current deadlines and penalties for dropping classes.

Information about the latest changes and news is available at the Advising Hub at <http://www.sjsu.edu/advising/>.

University Policies

“University Policies: Office of Graduate and Undergraduate Programs maintains university-wide policy information relevant to all courses, such as academic integrity, accommodations, etc.”

You may find all syllabus related University Policies and resources information listed on GUP's Syllabus Information web page at <http://sjsu.edu/gup/syllabusinfo/>

Accommodation

If you need special arrangements, please send me an email or speak with me privately after class or in office hours. It is important to speak with me sooner rather than later in order to be able to accommodate you in an appropriate and timely manner.

Library Resources

To succeed in this course, you need to access academic materials from the library. Some can be done online. Please familiarize yourself with how to get online access to academic journals, reference databases, and e-books via the library. You can ask the librarians and fellow students, do an internet search, or chat in office hours. The geography librarian is Nyle Monday, Nyle.Monday@sjsu.edu

| 16 | May 11 | Final Review | |
| 17 | May 19 | Final Due 5pm | Final Exam Due |

Readings:

You are expected to have done the readings for the week by the time of the class meeting. I will briefly mention the next week's readings at the end of each class, in order to help you navigate through the pieces. Pay careful attention to the page numbers for the readings. There may be in-class exercises that count towards your grade based on the reading for that week. We will discuss strategies for approaching the readings, and you are encouraged also to actively work on reading strategies by discussing with fellow students, talking with me, and looking at online resources. While critically reading the materials for the class, students should ask themselves, what is the author's main argument, who and what is the author responding to, how is the argument structured, what sorts of material is the author drawing on, are there relevant issues that the author does not address or which contradict the argument. The readings are provided both to inform students and for students to critically evaluate (not as absolute truth).
