

Folks Looking to Form Writing Groups

Read through the descriptions below and send a couple emails. Let me know if you establish a group (so I can move you from the “Looking” to the “Groups” section) and I’m happy to come to your first meeting to help you make plans and choose an awesome Writing Group name.

E-mail Address:

bcthai@gmail.com

Your Name:

Buu

Title of Your Project:

Parents' View of Quality Care by Family Income, Parental Education, and Cultural Background: An Evaluation of Early Childhood Education Programs

Type of Project:

Dissertation

Description of Your Project:

A mixed method analysis of early childhood education programs and parents' view on quality care.

What methodologies and theories are you using, or thinking of using, in your project?

Mix method analysis using parental decision-making framework

Where are you in your project? What's done? What's next? What are you working on now?

I have submitted my dissertation proposal to committee and will be defending the proposal on Sept. 8th. I'm currently collecting data for the first phase of my study.

What kind of Writing Group are you looking for? Something more structured? Less structured? Are you looking to meet weekly, bi-weekly, monthly, or something else?

I'm looking for a semi-structured writing group that is interested in meeting every 2-3 weeks depending on deliverables/timeline.

Describe yourself as a writer. What are you good at? What are you working on getting better at?

I am a disorganized writer. I have a lot of ideas and find it hard to organize my thoughts in a clear and concise way. I try to write everyday and get others to review my work. I'm good at reviewing other people's work and giving feedback

If you could name two areas of your project where you need the most help, what would they be?

Literature review times two!

If you could name two areas of writing that you are awesome at, what would they be?

Writing a story and advocacy statements

E-mail Address:

hyonchu.yi@sjsu.edu

Your Name:

Hyon Chu Yi-Baker

Title of Your Project:

Asian American Women in Executive Leadership Positions in Higher Education: Reconstructing New Pathways for Advancement- Lessons learned from current Asian American women leaders in California

Type of Project:

Dissertation

Description of Your Project:

Beginning stages of writing my dissertation

What methodologies and theories are you using, or thinking of using, in your project?

Qualitative study, individual interviews, focus groups, surveys. Using critical race theory, feminism theory, and the binary racial discourse theory

Where are you in your project? What's done? What's next? What are you working on now?

I have chapters 1, 2, 3 in a draft form.

What kind of Writing Group are you looking for? Something more structured? Less structured? Are you looking to meet weekly, bi-weekly, monthly, or something else?

Meeting bi-weekly. I'm fine with any structure as long as i have the opportunity to talk about my writing and get some good feedback.

Describe yourself as a writer. What are you good at? What are you working on getting better at?

Writing is not my strong suit. I think I have also developed writing phobia...

If you could name two areas of your project where you need the most help, what would they be?

Structure and writing clearly

If you could name two areas of writing that you are awesome at, what would they be?

Still working on identifying this....

E-mail Address:

Your Name:

Title of Your Project:

Type of Project:

Description of Your Project:

What methodologies and theories are you using, or thinking of using, in your project?

Where are you in your project? What's done? What's next? What are you working on now?

What kind of Writing Group are you looking for? Something more structured? Less structured? Are you looking to meet weekly, bi-weekly, monthly, or something else?

Describe yourself as a writer. What are you good at? What are you working on getting better at?

If you could name two areas of your project where you need the most help, what would they be?

If you could name two areas of writing that you are awesome at, what would they be?
